DOWN AGAIN—For the second time in slightly less than a month rubble from a razed building in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal area crashed through electric lines Wednesday at 2:25 p. m., and cut off service on many blocks including that in The Freeman just as presses were due to roll. The second pole from left (with transformer units) involved in the

Await Moon 'UR Job,' Surveyor Films Blurry

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3's first glare-blurred pictures hint it may be resting in a lunar crater after a gentle touchdown in an area astronauts someday may explore.
Claw Retracted
While the three-legged craft kept its moon-scratching claw retracted, spacecraft controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said photographs radioed during 10 hours after the landing Wednesday showed less detail than those from Surveyor 1 last June. But they theorized this was due to sunlight reflected into the camera.
A spokesman said the horizon around the vehicle was about five degrees higher than it would be if Surveyor 3 had landed on a flat plain.
Diameter of the crater and the height of its rim were not known.
First operation of a scoop designed to extend from the spacecraft and dig in the lunar soil was scheduled for late tonight or early Friday. The shovel, on the end of a five-foot arm, can dig as deep as 18 inches, pick up small rocks, or hammer hard enough to break a brick.
The amount of power needed to move the shovel through the soil is expected to indicate if the surface is strong enough to support manned landing craft. Pictures taken after each of its jerky movements should show whether the soil is sandy or gravelly.

Irregular Wrinkles
Clearest of the photographs taken in the first three attempts showed irregular wrinkles — apparently part of a crater wall — between the 620-pound craft and the horizon.
Readings from strain gauges on the vehicle's spindly legs indicated, however, that it came to rest gently and did not tilt.
The main problem seemed to be glare from the sun, coming in at a sunrise slant from the east and reflecting from the spacecraft's surfaces into a mirror that enables the upward-pointing camera to photograph the soil beneath it.
Surveyor 3's 65-hour flight across a quarter-million miles ended at 7:04 p. m. EST. Wednesday after a braking rocket slowed its 6,000-mile-per-hour descent. The 10-foot-tall vehicle settled on the surface with a 10- to 12-m.p.h. impact and started its camera about an hour later.
The first pictures were made up of 200 scan lines. There are nearly 600 on home television screens.

Later, 600-line pictures were televised but glare continued to wipe out much detail.
The 200-line pictures were transmitted with power supplied by a battery aboard the craft. The 600-line pictures came when a higher-power antenna with additional current provided by the craft's solar panels came into play. The solar panels convert sunlight into electricity.
Picture-taking was stopped at 5 a. m. EST when the earth's rotation carried the receiving station at nearby Goldstone, Calif., out of view of the moon. Transmission was scheduled to begin again about 6 p. m. EST.
Better Ones Later
Officials expect better photographs when the sun rises during the two-week lunar day.
The landing site, two and one-half miles from an aiming point picked during a midcourse steering maneuver, is in the dry Ocean of Storms near the center of the left half of the lunar disc. Surveyor 1 landed about 400 miles to the east, still in the Ocean of Storms, a relatively flat plain in the equatorial zone chosen for upcoming Apollo astronaut flights.

Map Shows China of Today A Much Changed Nation

Today's edition of The Freeman presents another in the series of colorful, educational and public service oriented features — currently being offered by paper to its many readers.
Early in March The Freeman presented a full-page, four-color map of Vietnam and the response was so great that the newspaper's management arranged for today's feature — a similar treatment on China.
And, like the Vietnam map which preceded it, the China map should be of invaluable aid to Ulster County students at all grade levels and to those citizens who have an avid interest in the news of the world as it is being made.
Technicians of Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland were responsible for the years of research which went into this news-in-color service and others of its kind.

For those who still think of China in terms of the Empress Dowager and palace eunuchs — or even as it was some 2,000 years before the Empress, the map will furnish a blazing education at contrast. Strikingly rendered, the Freeman map presents a far different picture of China.
It has been written that in the 19th century, there came out of Korea a most unusual map, round in format, artistically drawn to include snow covered mountains and shadowy forests and faithfully following the ancient tradition of allotting China the central place of honor in the world. The map reputedly showed All Under Heaven (the world) and a bright red disk in the center represented China, surrounded by a variety of mythical countries plus a few real ones such as Japan and Korea.
China, as she appears in The Freeman's version, bears no resemblance to this hazy conception of 19th century rendition with its Oriental lettering. The new map is a modern as geographical research and CIA technology can make it and its topography is identified in English. Rectangular rather than round, it shows China not as a small disk at the center of a mythical world but as a sprawling country almost totally surrounded by very real nations, some all-powerful and some rapidly growing in that direction. The snow-covered peaks of the old map have given way to captions which locate disputed border territory, nuclear plants under construction, uranium mines and naval bases. The shadowy forests, too, are gone — and, in their place, training sites for Soviet Army Divisions have been drawn in, missile ranges bristle and trouble spots and bomb testing ranges are located in the blackest of ink.

Approve Rotron's $2,500,000 Loan For Olive Plant

Rotron Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of highly engineered air movement and electronic cooling devices, with main offices located in Woodstock, announced that a long term loan of $2,500,000 has been negotiated with Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to finance the construction of a new manufacturing plant in the Town of Olive. The initial building, to be built on a 155 acre site, will provide about 90,000 square feet of manufacturing space. Present plans call for occupancy in the spring of 1968.
This move marks the first step in Rotron's previously announced growth plan to consolidate all its manufacturing operations at one (Continued on Page 20, Col. 2)

Creek Debris Hearing Sought

Huyler Van Wagenen Sr., chairman of the Lower Esopus Creek Waterway Committee, said today he will arrange a meeting in the near future with State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-38th Dist.) to discuss ways and means of obtaining immediate action to clear debris from the creek.
Earlier this week a large tree was uprooted and fell into the creek causing further blockage of the stream, which has been the subject of heated controversy the last several years. Van Wagenen said the tree toppled over at the rear of the Sussin property near Orlando Street, Town of Ulster.
The committee chairman recalled that last Oct. 29 a group of officials toured the creek by boat and noted what was termed a deplorable condition which is considered detrimental to boating, fishing, swimming and other recreation in the area. Those who made the inspection tour last October, noticed silt schools, small islands forming in the stream, banks caving in and logs clogging the stream at points.
After the "Challenge Tour" Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), of Ulster County expressed his appreciation for the Lower Esopus Creek Waterway Committee for arranging the tour, and pledged to renew his efforts to obtain some measure of flood control for the local waterway.
Wilson said at the time there was a definite need for extensive clearing and dredging operations from the City of Kingston northward, as well as some workable plan to protect the hundreds of buildings which have been in danger during flooding.

The assemblyman reported after the tour that property damage resulting from flood conditions should be avoided and that such a staggering amount of property loss could not be ignored by the Federal Government.
He said he would again urge the New York State Director of Flood Control, Horace S. Evans, to press for a complete re-survey and re-evaluation of the proposed flood control project by the Army Corps of Engineers.
Commenting today on the existing conditions in the Esopus Creek, Van Wagenen said his committee is determined to immediately pursue every possible avenue to bring about action that will put the stream in condition so that it will be usable for fishing, swimming, boating and other recreation for area residents.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Rescuers collected 126 burned, broken bodies today on the slopes of a hillcock where a chartered Swiss airliner crashed during a thunderstorm. The airline said two of four survivors died in a hospital, bringing the total dead to 128.
One of Worst Ever
In one of the worst crashes in aviation history, the four-engine turboprop Bristol Britannia airliner crashed near Nicosia during the night as it attempted to land. There were reports the plane had been hit by lightning. Most of the dead were German and Swiss tourists returning from a trip to the Far East. The plane's crew included four Britons, all killed.
Bodies Everywhere
"This is the most terrible sight I've ever seen," said one of the first persons on the scene. "There are bodies all over the place, some of them in pieces."
The survivors were in the plane's tail section, the only part which remained somewhat intact.
"We kept looking but all we could find apart from those lucky few in the tail were dead people," the rescuer said.
Greek and Cypriot policemen and soldiers, British airmen and U.N. Peace Force members worked in a downpour under spotlights beamed down by hovering U.N. helicopters.
The plane was flying from Bombay, India, to Cairo, Egypt, but was diverted to Nicosia because of bad weather.
The owner, Globeair of Switzerland, said it heard from the air control tower in Nicosia that the plane was struck by lightning and burst into flames.
Evidence at the scene indicated the plane hit a bump in the ground, then bounced a few hundred yards into the slope of a hillcock less than 100 feet high. "I was watching the plane flying low with lights in all its windows," an airport employee said. "Then suddenly there was a flash and I could not see the plane any more. I thought it was another flash of lightning but it could have been the plane hitting the ground."
Survivors All Young
A helicopter took off and directed fire engines and ambulances to the scene. Rescuers had to toil through muddy fields in the darkness to reach the site, where pieces of the wings and engines lay scattered in a square-mile area around the main sections of the broken fuselage.
The survivors, all young, were taken by helicopter to an Austrian field hospital. The hospital director said one man, a Swiss, was in "relatively good condition."
The other survivors were a Swiss air hostess, a German woman and a German man.
Globeair, a small Swiss charter firm, said the flight was organized jointly by the travel bureau of a Frankfurt, Germany, department store and a Swiss bureau in Zurich.
Nicosia Airport employees said the plane made one low run over the runway and then turned, apparently to make a second landing run, before it crashed.
1960 Worst on Record
Aviation's worst disaster was the collision of a United Airlines DC8 jet and a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation over Staten Island, New York, Dec. 16, 1960. It killed 134 persons, including six on the ground.
There have been four other crashes in which more than 126 persons were killed.

Rosendale Gets Assurance—No 'Deadend' St.
Rosendale's Main Street will not come to a "deadend."
This in essence was the word received by Town Supervisor Gerard De Felice from the State Department of Public Works.
Previous plans for relocation of Route 213 from Lawrenceville to Route 32 called for bypassing Main Street in the village. At a public hearing earlier this year, residents voiced objections to the state plan, contending it would make a virtual deadend out of the existing main thoroughfare through the business section.
According to the state communication, the route will be redesigned to include Main Street. The former proposed route would have run parallel to Main Street roughly following the old D&H Canal course just north of the village.
Supervisor De Felice said today he was sure the state's change of plans would come as "good news" to village residents.

Jets Again Hit Haiphong Area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets, striking closer than ever before to Haiphong, attacked two power plants today within sight and sound of that major port of North Vietnam. One target was just over a mile away.
Clearing weather over North Vietnam opened the way for the raid, similar to strikes last June and December near Haiphong and Hanoi that stirred up international controversy.
Hit by Fleet Units
A U.S. spokesman said the power plants — one 1.1 and the other 2.1 miles from Haiphong — were hit just before noon by planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Kitty Hawk.
The raids on Haiphong's doorstep attested to the mounting fury of the air war in the North as the monsoon rains subside.

Wednesday American pilots flew through the heaviest defenses ever thrown up by the Communists to attack an army camp southeast of Hanoi. In 17 aerial dogfights over North Vietnam's heartland, the U.S. pilots downed one Communist MIG and probably got four more, the U.S. command said.
The closest previous raids to Haiphong were last June 23, when U.S. planes bombed an oil depot two miles from the city. The same day they hit an oil depot three miles from Hanoi.
The raids today on Haiphong's outskirts must have had approval from Washington and possibly from President Johnson himself. All raids within a 10-mile radius of the port city have to be cleared by Washington.
The Navy had been waiting for more than a week for clear weather to make the raids.
No Assessment
The initial announcement did not give an assessment of damage or say whether any U.S. planes were lost.
Hanoi claimed two American planes were shot down during the air battle Wednesday and said one pilot was captured. The U.S. command made no announcement of any American losses, but such announcements are usually delayed if a search is on for missing pilots.
Red ground gunners filled the skies with Soviet-built missiles and radar-directed antiaircraft fire which the U.S. command said was the heaviest American airman have encountered in Vietnam.
The air battle was the fiercest since Jan. 2 when seven MIGs were downed over the Red River Valley in the war's deadliest sky battle.
The second wave of planes coming in from bases in Thailand and South Vietnam spotted the smoke towering up from miles away.

Protest Marches Create Hate Says Negro Minister

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights marchers should troop out to West Side slum areas with rakes, brooms and grass seed instead of marching through all-white suburbs with Dr. Martin Luther King, says a Negro pastor.

The Rev. Henry Mitchell, minister of the North Star Missionary Baptist Church, made

Garlock Earnings Up

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — Garlock Inc. reported today first quarter earnings of $553,509 equal to 30 cents per share, an increase of 6.1 per cent over the comparable period a year ago.

The 1966 first-quarter earnings were $521,621, or 29 cents a share.

The firm's directors declared a 15 cent dividend for the second quarter, payable May 15 to shareholders of record May 2.

the comment at a news conference Wednesday at which he also suggested that King "get the hell out of here."

The minister, whose church is in a West Side slum area one block from an apartment King uses as a Chicago operations base, said marches led by King and his associates in white neighborhoods, last summer "created hate."

King was unavailable for comment. He was getting a physical checkup at an Atlanta hospital.

However, a spokesman for King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference said, that the SCLC has been invited back to Chicago by a group of more than 50 civil rights organizations. He added that the SCLC does not think the Rev. Mr. Mitchell has a great following in Chicago.

The Rev. Mr. Mitchell said King's marchers "don't represent the mass of the Negro people, who prefer to live in their community."

He told reporters a group he heads has contacted more than 5,000 persons and encouraged them not to join the marches this summer.

"We asked a lot of them if they want to live in Cicero," the Rev. Mr. Mitchell said, adding the response came down to: "Hell, no!"

Cicero is an all-white suburb where the Congress of Racial Equality sponsored a march last September during which the National Guard was called in to maintain order.

Mitchell's group contends that Negro slum dwellers need education and a better community spirit. A sign in his small church says: "Our children die in riots."

Kenyon Gives Talk on Coast

Using the theme, The Challenge of Change, Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, addressed the National Education Association Conference in San Francisco. The subject for his talk was, "The Mid-Hudson Center, A Model for Educational-Cultural Change."

The presentation traced the history of the development of the Regional Center from its inception at the State University College in New Paltz, to June 1, 1966 when the center became representative of all public, and non-public schools, colleges, and cultural agencies in the Mid-Hudson Valley. The program will soon expand to include Greene and Columbia Counties.

The Center initiated its services with four projects approved and funded by the U.S. Office of Education Commissioner June 1, 1966. The regional projects: Talented Art Program (TAP), Projects in Imaginative Nature Education, Consortia Project of Museums-Social Studies-Science Teachers, and an administration grant to provide coordinated developmental services for agencies developing innovative and exemplary programs involving planned change.

On Feb. 1966, two additional projects were approved and funded. One project was for "slow learners" developed by the Ulster County BOCES and implemented February 1, 1967.

The second project, a consortia of public and school library systems in the seven Hudson Valley counties will be initiated within the near future. The Center also received an Elementary-Secondary Act Special Title II Grant to secure and process a professional library for teachers.

A letter of intent was submitted to the N. Y. State Education Department by the Center on behalf of 20 Mid-Hudson educational-cultural agencies seeking approval and funding for various projects. Included among the proposals were, Project Exemplary Consortia (PEC); Integrated Compensatory Education (ICE); Frequency Modulated (FM); Educational Programming Involving Cultural Heritage (EPIC); Urban Strip Approach (USA); Special Programming for Learning by Innovative Television (SPLIT); Perceptual Education Program (PEP); Ungraded Early Childhood Education (UECE); Project to Assimilate and Publish Educational Reactions (PAPER); Language Learning Student Development (LSD); Integrated Arts Program as a Communications Center for Potential Drop-Outs and Low-Ranked Students; Learning Disabilities Center (LDC); Talented Repertory Educational Arts Theatre (TREAT); Flexible Use of Resources (FUR); and Music Education (ME) will coordinate in their development by the services of the Regional Center.

Dr. Kenyon's presenter at the NEA conference was Dr. Philip Rueschoff, Prof. and Chairman, University of Kansas.

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

I am a retired florist and would like to give some tips to your housewives who grow their own flowers.

Cut flowers last longer if all the leaves are removed from any stem that is under the water. The leaves sap up the power of life in a cut flower. The main point is to get water to the bud itself.

If you have no proper frog or foam, the extra leaves and sprigs may be tucked into the flower containers. Often, sprigs of foliage with leaves still attached (such as stems from hedges) may be tucked down into deep vase and used as a perfect flower arrangement.

For some types, of flowers, such as marigolds, a few drops of household bleach, added to the water before placing the flowers in, helps to keep the stench down.

And more power to you, Heloise. My wife absolutely loves you.

Larry Solsberg

And thanks to you, sir, You sure made my day flowery!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Know those tiny jars with twist caps that are sometimes so hard to open?

Try releasing the vacuum by punching a hole in the top with a V-type bottle opener. It makes all the difference in the world.

This is especially good if it's a tiny jar of something you will use immediately.

Again

Dear Heloise:

I've found another use for Heloise nylon net... as a kitchen sink mat to keep the porcelain finish from getting those horrible marks from aluminum, etc.

I made a net pad for the bottom of my sink by using four thicknesses of nylon net and cutting a pattern to fit the bottom of the sink.

Then I stitched these together around the edges and sewed a big "X" through the center with my sewing machine.

I then cut circle out of the center over the drain and stitched around that.

The little circle I cut out of the center I used in my soap tray to put my bar of soap on. If you have a double sink, make a net pad for at least one side. This will be interchangeable.

O.B.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

Every time I burn a pot or pan (I am bad about that) I tell my family that I am testing for you...

At least it brings a laugh. Elnora

Dear Heloise:

I find that if you use elastic thread to hem skirts or dresses made of this new stretchable material, it won't break when you walk or kick.

Don't stretch the thread as you sew... just sew it loosely. Mrs. Wilkins

Letter of Thought

Dear Heloise:

I want to pass on a tried and true recipe for treasured and happy memories:

Go on family jaunts regularly; but as often as you can, jaunt with each child individually.

Warmth, confidence and love are stimulated by this privacy and companionship and it's something that can never be taken away.

How I cherish those memories. Grandmother

Dear Heloise:

With the beginning of warmer weather I start planning summer wardrobes for my children.

For my small girls I have this idea which is easy and economical:

I buy lightweight curtain valances in assorted colors and prints. The decoration is already there and they are a perfect length. The scalloped ones are especially attractive.

I cut the valance in half and put skirt elastic through where the rod usually goes. Then I sew up one seam and put a snap or button on the back.

And guess what I have? One valance makes two adorable skirts for a small girl, and using them saves me time and money.

Mrs. R. J. Wicks

Dear Heloise:

When you are making up gelatin to pour into individual molds, try mixing it in a pitcher.

I find this so much easier. It's faster and no drips to wipe up.

A Faithful Reader

Dear Heloise:

My daughter was recently confined to her bed with a nasty cold.

After the first hour, used facial tissues were all over the bed and floor. I knew this would not do.

I took one of the plastic bags that my husband's laundered shirts came in and pinned it to the box of tissue. This way she had the tissue dispenser and a convenient place to deposit each tissue after using.

Also, she could carry both containers with her when she left her bed, and when I discarded the used tissues it was much more sanitary.

J.R.W.

Dear Heloise:

When I addressed my wedding invitations I also addressed all the envelopes to my thank-you notes. I put them in alphabetical order and set them aside until after our honeymoon.

This sure saved me a lot of time and extra address hunting when I thanked all our friends for our wonderful wedding gifts.

Linda

This might save some other bride-to-be many precious hours as she gets her home in order and cooks her first meals.

Linda, best wishes to you and thanks for the thoughtful idea.

Love, Heloise

Weather Eases Threat of Hike In Bread Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — The weatherman is toying with the family food bill again.

Rains finally have fallen in the wheat belt. Wheat prices have dropped, easing the threat of higher prices for flour and bread this summer.

Rains also have fallen in California, and there the effects haven't been entirely helpful.

They have kept the bees from pollinating fruit trees, slowed the asparagus cutting, damaged the sweet cherries in San Joaquin Valley, washed away tomato seedlings, and—a bit of cheer perhaps for small boys—interrupted the spinach harvest. A freeze caused heavy damage to apricots.

The weatherman also is holding the Florida tomato crop below normal.

As the weather improves, there should be bigger supplies—and lower prices—for fresh fruits and vegetables. The outlook is good for celery, lettuce, snap beans, carrots, sweet corn, green peppers and green onions.

Bananas, apples, grapefruit and oranges are plentiful.

In the meat department, ham and beef prices have dropped again. Big supplies of other meats have helped keep beef prices down. There are much bigger supplies of pork, chickens and turkeys than last year. Egg prices have dropped another 2 to 4 cents a dozen.

The composer Leoncavallo achieved fame in operatic history with a single work, "Pagliacci."

COL. CHANDLER AND TROOPERS

Colonel George F. Chandler, who organized and commanded the New York State Police 50 years ago, is being honored here today by the erection of a monument in his memory at the Ulster County Office Building.

Col. Chandler previously was honored by local residents and the State of New York when a four-lane section of highway between Edson Plaza and the Route 28 traffic circle was named the "Col. George F. Chandler Drive."

The state trooper tradition of the rugged individualist despite new methods and increased efficiency resulting from the advanced communication systems remains today. And the New York State Trooper organization is second to that of no other law enforcement organization in the country.

When Col. Chandler left the troopers in 1924 after serving seven years, there were no such things as radio or teletype. The troopers then worked with the assistance of telephone operators in rural sections. The few residents with telephones alerted the mounted troopers and those in prowlers when assistance was needed at an emergency.

In the years that followed, definite lines of communications were established with various division headquarters and a detective force organized, which is known as the Bureau of Criminal Intelligence.

The "Mighty Gray" force was first mounted as a state constabulary and then changed came with motorization and electronic means of communication as well as methods of keeping trace of law violators. The New York State Police, one of the best organized police units in the nation, has been a reassuring part of our daily lives. For 50 years the force has been successful and will continue to render a vital service as long as it is in existence.

A DETERMINED HOUSE

The House of Representatives bared its teeth in the 400 to 0 vote by which it established a permanent ethics committee to draft standards of official conduct for members and employees. The 12-member committee will be equally divided, six Democrats and six Republicans.

The House was stung to action by the public revulsion to the conduct of Adam Clayton Powell. A recent Gallup poll revealed that six out of ten Americans believe all members of Congress are guilty of misconduct. True or false, public opinion demanded an ethical code of conduct for members of Congress and want to see it observed or enforced.

The Senate established its own ethics committee two years ago after disclosures that Robert G. Baker, secretary to the Democratic majority, had used his position and influence to create a multi-million dollar business empire. Baker was convicted of income tax evasion, theft, fraud and conspiracy this month and sentenced to serve one to three years in prison. He is free on appeal, although his light sentence affronted the majority of Americans.

The Senate ethics committee investigated charges that Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut Democrat, had used campaign funds for his personal benefit. Tentatively, the committee has decided to recommend that Dodd be punished for misconduct, though some feel he is being persecuted for his anti-Communist stand.

Congress is not as bad as some of its members are alleged to be, but the public has come to believe differently. Both houses will redeem Congress in the public mind if these ethics committees accept their duty and exercise it firmly. Even more important, the members themselves must observe the standards they set for themselves, if the public is to believe in them.

The Bobby Baker, Adam Clayton Powell and Senator Thomas J. Dodd cases have brought a growing cynicism in the country about Congress. It has led Senator Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Senate Republican campaign committee, to call for Senators to publish an annual statement of assets and liabilities and perhaps make public their income tax returns.

"These Days"

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE URBANIZED SOUTH AMERICAN WAY

We have had our eyes focussed on the "summit" of the American presidents at Punta del Este in Uruguay, and, because of this, we have been treated to an extra-heavy display of the conventional wisdom about the needs and conditions of Latin America. We have heard from the Left about "oligarchs," and we have heard the fear of "Castroism" dinned into us by the Right. A guerrilla camp has been uncovered in Bolivia, complete with a picture of Che Guevara, who sank out of sight some time ago in Cuba. Meanwhile, the pundits have bemoaned that a common market for Latin America is all very well but that it cannot possibly be sufficient to alleviate the poverty or control the population boom in time to save the Latin.

Somewhat, though I know there are "oligarchs" (i.e., landed aristocrats) and Castroite guerrillas in parts of Latin America, I can't take the conventional wisdom seriously. The twin menaces of the hard-hearted aristocrat and the Castroite guerrilla presuppose a feudal economy. Thinking in these terms, the Maoists—and Fidel Castro and Che Guevara as Maoist disciples—have painted a picture of a coming hill-and-jungle-born revolution, with guerrillas ultimately marching out of the Andes and the rain forests to seize power in the capitals. But South America, as distinct from Central America and some of the Caribbean islands, ceased long ago to be a preserve of feudal aristocrats and sullen serfs. The trend has been toward heavy urbanization, with the population being heaped up in a few huge metropolitan regions.

In the very Uruguay that has been entertaining Lyndon Johnson more than half the population lives in Montevideo. Uruguay is an advanced Welfare State, suffering from the inflation that seems to be the ineradicable accompaniment of monomaniacal concentration on social security. Across the estuary of the Rio de la Plata, in Argentina, a population that used to run to gauchos has been jamming up in Buenos Aires. Perpetual "shirtless ones" were city fellows, not rural devotees of Mao Tse-tung's "Yenan way." Across the Andes, in Chile, people hole up in the Valparaíso-Santiago region. Brazil consists of the empty Amazon basin, a sparsely settled backcountry, and some whopping big cities in São Paulo and Rio. Venezuela is mostly Caracas, and Colombia is at least half-urbanized.

If Communism has any chance of taking over in South America it will be an urban, proletarian Communism, not a Castroite eruption from the Cordilleras. But if history tells us anything, we don't get Communism from a city-bred working class, as Karl Marx mistakenly thought. What we do get in urbanized areas is either a smooth development of a middle class which makes jobs and provides Welfareism for everybody in the course of enriching itself, or some variety of Fascist organization under a strong man with the Army and the unions and the declassé intellectuals behind him.

In short, the menace is Peronism or Goulartism or something of that nature. Can this be avoided? Oddly, the future of Latin America would seem to rest at least partly on a reconstitution of rural life. David Rockefeller, whose Chase Manhattan Bank is deeply involved in Latin developments, is my authority for saying that "some $5 million acres of virgin land must be brought under cultivation in Latin America within the next fourteen years if food production is to keep pace with the world's fastest rate of population increase."

To restore farming as a way of life in Latin America does not require dispossessing an unwilling feudal aristocracy. The South American continent, outside the big cities, is mostly empty. To cite some Chase Bank figures, Latin America has only twenty-nine people to the square mile as compared with East Asia's 185 persons and Europe's 231 persons per square mile. True, only one-quarter of Latin America's land area is arable, but only five per cent is now under cultivation.

Latin America hasn't bogged down in development, for the growth of its cities has resulted in an average increase of the gross annual product of five per cent a year for fifteen years. The Latin troubles—slums, shortages of hospitals and schools—are a reflex of growth, for their rural population, dazzled by the burgeoning metropolises, moves into shanty-town suburbs at a rate too fast for absorption. The problem is how to make rural life attractive, or at least fecund enough to feed the cities at a profit.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Antidraft and antiwar marches are no special Vietnam war phenomenon. A study of old files makes today's opposition seem mild by contrast. An 1865 report from Brig. Gen. James Oakes, acting assistant provost marshal general of Illinois, says in part:

"One county of the 13th District (Williamson) was obliged to be enrolled (for the draft) in the presence and by the aid of a company of cavalry."

"A military force had also to be sent into Fayette, Clarke, Cole, Morgan, Fulton and some other counties (to enforce registration) and a few men were killed and wounded on both sides before the disturbances were quelled."

"The most serious (draft registration) outbreaks occurred near Manchester, Scott County, 10th District, and at Charleston, Coles County, 7th District, to both of which places I was obliged to send a strong force, and many prisoners were taken and variously disposed of as provided by regulations and laws."

"Although but few actual collisions have occurred in the state, a bitter and dangerous temper has frequently been manifested and formidable combinations have existed in various locations, with the avowed purpose of armed resistance to the enforcement of the (draft) laws. . . . I am entirely satisfied that the presence in the state of the requisite military force was all that prevented the bloody culmination of their threats in many localities, if not a general and formidable insurrection, especially toward the close of the year 1864."

"The grand cause—the only really guilty and formidable source of the dangers through which Illinois has passed—is to be found in the steady streams of political poison and arrant treason which have been permitted to flow from the wicked, reckless and debauched newspaper press of the state. But for this the enrollment and draft would have passed off with scarcely a ripple of disturbance. . . . The government, with all its officers, aims and purposes, has been maligned, asspersed and defiled with a persistent fiendishness and a truculent hatred that would have seemed incredible and impossible."

President Lincoln's draft of July, 1863, aimed at raising 300,000 men. The numbers of 292,000 were drawn. But 40,000 failed to report for examination; 164,000 were exempted; 52,000 legally bought their way out with cash; 26,000 bought substitutes and 9,900 actually served personally.

An official U.S. government volume on the history of the draft says: "With the passage of the Enrollment (Draft) Act of 1863, organized resistance developed into mob violence such as the nation had never before witnessed. The bloodiest resistance occurred in New York City where four days of rioting took vengeance. . . . Property damage ran into the millions and deaths are said to have totaled a thousand."

Draft opponents and war-opposition groups were strong in the Revolutionary War. A Department of the Army pamphlet says that during the American Revolution, John Adams estimated that more than a third of the influential men were opposed to armed resistance.

There are 925 college papers in the country, and most are outspoken only as youth can be. That may account for the spate of revolts on the campus. The college press agitates as much as it informs.

"Relax, Honey, I'll Dream Up Something!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The only people who can understand women are women, and they despise them. My comprehension of the foibles of my lovely wife, Kelly, and my four daughters is limited to listening. A run in a stocking can be a catastrophe. On the other hand, if I fall down a flight of stairs it induces girlish laughter. Kelly, who is close to being sane at times, abhors gambling. My risks run to a few bucks at the tracks, a bob or two at roulette, a little gin rummy with a buddy, and trying to handicap the jai-alai players at Dania. I never bet more than I can afford to lose, but my wife adds it up into cans of beans, pairs of shoes and permanent waves.

Last year, she sprung a bolt. Instead of sulking, she began to bet. The wheels of fortune began to spin in her head. It is getting worse and worse. She bets small and counts big. We were in a gaming casino at Nassau and she asked me for five dollars at a roulette wheel. I shook my head no.

"Use your own money," I said. She did. Five dollars was placed on the red. Red came up. I kept playing my own system, known as Bishop's Painless Method of Losing Slowly. She built the five up to $25.

Then, while the little pill was racing against the wheel, she put it all on red. It came up black. I have never seen such a horrified look on a woman, even when the villain sneaked into Mary Pickford's room, locked the door, and swallowed the key.

"What did you do that for?" I said. Her mouth hung open. "I came up red three times in a row, so I bet red." I punched the side of my head with the palm of my hand. "I came up red three times, so you bet it would do it four times?" I said. She nodded. "What else?" she said. "I thought the wheel was in a rut."

Last week, she was camping out at Gulfstream. She had all the tip sheets—Lawton, Riley, Jan Carter, Collier's, The Owl, Jack's and Ad-Tab—and she sat in the club house studying their homework. Kelly had pen, pen, a pad of foolscap, the Morning Telegraph, female intuition, and a waiter who was horse sick.

They agreed that the 12 horse, Salute My Gal, would cha-cha home alone, so she played Waystobegay and it won. It's logical. In the second, the expert selected the 3 horse, Great Helen, and my lady played Tez Morena, on the assumption that the mare pranced happily when she saw the track. Tez Morena won, and my wife had a $60 daily double.

Was she happy? Oh, no. Her misery deepened. She should have put the kiddies' school lunch money on those nags rather than a measly $2. In the third, the baggy-eyed experts liked Johnny Rango, but my lady knows that my brother John can't tango, so she bet Master Steve, because Steve Brooks was up, and what could be more natural?

He paid 12-to-1, and she could have killed him for not nodding his head yes before the race. In the fourth, she came up with the dry reaches. Also the fifth, sixth and seventh. In each case Kelly doubled her bets. "I'm playing the money," she said, the mouth laughing, the eyes weeping. Quite soon, she was playing with hers.

We stayed for the tenth, so she could get even. En route to the car, she said: "I'm a nervous wreck. Half the time, when I get to the window, I forget the number of the horse. This is the most thrilling sport. When are we going to the track again?"

An offhand diagnosis is that she's hooked. I didn't think so until we stood on the corner and she wanted to bet on license plates, odds or even. Worse, she has become a tip addict. When the waiter says: "I see the rub-down kid for number five put his own two bucks on the horse two minutes ago," Mrs. B. is primed for the limousine cure.

When Joe E. Lewis stops at our table to tell us that he just compared ties with the trainer of number two, and the man smiled at him, all the figures are forgotten at once and the bundle—$2—goes on the two horse. The most she has ever lost in one day is $20. The most she has ever won comes to about $50. Somehow, she can't recall the twenty, but she has detailed memories of the fifty. When it comes to a win, she has instant replay.

On Sunday, she murmurs: "If you're going to be kind enough to take me to the track tomorrow, I want to put an extra $5 in the collection plate at church. It's like bread cast on the waters."

When she loses, she comes home chastened, "I never liked gambling," she says, "and you know it. Why you insist on taking me along is more than I can understand."

Today in World Affairs
Soviet Formula Not Exactly Result of Good Man in PR

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What they apparently need in the Soviet government is a good public relations man. For certainly the formula of "how to win friends and influence people" has been given little attention in Moscow. Many Americans indeed are wondering why the Soviet government considers a military alliance with the North Vietnamese government to be more rewarding than the good will of the American people.

Within the last few days news has come out that in March nearly 100,000 tons of war supplies — a record high — were shipped into Hanoi, the major port of North Vietnam. The bulk of this was carried on Communist ships—not only Russian but those of the Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

Coincidentally, President Johnson has been trying to persuade Congress that this is a good time to pass legislation to take off many of the existing restrictions on trade between the United States and the Soviets. I don't think Congress is going to be very happy to do that at a time when the Russians are increasing military help to the North Vietnamese.

Also, Secretary of State Rusk, when asked about the demonstrations last week inside the United States protesting against the war in Vietnam, said Sunday on NBC's "The Press" program:

"I have no doubt at all that the Communist apparatus is very busy indeed in these operations all over the world and in our own country, but I do not mean to say by that that all those who have objections to the war in Vietnam are Communists. But the worldwide Communist movement is working very hard on this."

The United States and the Soviet Union are continually discussing questions of mutual importance. Many Americans have hopefully felt that sooner or later there would emerge in Russia a group of leaders who would begin to appreciate the value of a friendly relationship with the United States. Maybe in Moscow they do not have comprehensive surveys of American opinion and hence do not realize that the subversive activities which have been inspired by the communists in North and South America, as well as on other continents, are beginning to be viewed as an indication of hostility toward this country that is growing instead of lessening.

Lately some members of Congress have openly advocated that the United States government should manifest its desire for a friendlier relationship with the Soviet Union by removing some of the existing trade barriers. But as long as the Vietnam war continues and the Soviet Union sends in war supplies to help kill American troops, the chances of a Soviet-American detente will diminish steadily.

A good public relations man in Moscow, on the other hand, would long ago have recommended that the Soviet and American governments could together accomplish much for the good of the world if a sincere effort were made to reduce the tensions that exist between the two countries. Ill feeling instead is building up because of the substantial help the Russians are giving to the enemies of the United States in Vietnam. Indeed there are many people in Washington who believe that the Vietnam war could be ended overnight if the Russian said the word. The benefits that would flow from such a step are incalculable.

Surely the Russian people, who have been through the agony of two world wars with enormous losses, would welcome effective steps to prevent another catastrophe. The fact is that the only two nations which could possibly fight a major war in the future are the two strongest nuclear powers. While Red China can make trouble, it could not get very far if the Soviet and the United States governments were lined up together in case tensions and work toward peace. Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

Going back to March 1917, some 50 years ago to Rondout, I see a taxi driver was arrested by a Kingston policeman for driving his taxi past a trolley car on the wrong side of the street.

Back in March, 1917 the newspaper was reminding folks that all persons bringing maple syrup to the local stores for sale spring of 1917 were required by law to mark each can with the producer's name, the exact net weight and also to label "pure maple syrup."

March 20, 1917, the Norwich, N.Y. News-Bulletin reported a leak at her berth at the Lindsley dock near the Cornell shops and sunk. When the tide went out, they were going to pump the water out of her hull. The old ice king was berthed at the Lindsley dock all winter, and after this accident she was resting on the bottom of the creek. The ice was still holding, and they were worrying about the Odell of the Central Hudson line in breaking a track through, although they were running from New York to Poughkeepsie at above date.

There is a new generation of young collectors who drop by and am gruffed to see that they wish to collect historic items of the past. One young man, a student, has a fantastic collection of old time steamers, and our Kingston Point Park, and Hudson-Fulton cards, which he mounts in albums.

While Kingston is in the midst of destroying the atmosphere of its colonial city, and old architecture, travelers to Europe will take their expensive cameras and take pictures over there of older buildings than ours. Europe knows what the traveler is interested in, we don't. We let strangers come in to Kingston and take it apart, and the local youth will suddenly ask, "Why?"

It is indeed strange, to walk down Broadway down by Mill Street and suddenly see the hills of Slightsburg from the Rondout side, the expensive camera and take pictures over there of older buildings than ours. Europe knows what the traveler is interested in, we don't. We let strangers come in to Kingston and take it apart, and the local youth will suddenly ask, "Why?"

It is true that "God helps those who help themselves." However, first he must follow the unalterable demands of Mr. Evan J. Davis of the Kingston Human Relations Commission.

Overlooking the fact that publicity is always an excellent factor in an election year, I can't understand why there is such a sudden interest in a clean up campaign of my property. On innumerable occasions I have had this property cleaned. I employ a full-time janitor as well as the services of an exterminator. These teens who reside on this property are merely cleaning up their own dirt.

This situation is one which of the property owners of Kingston must face. No longer does the property owners have rights. He is dictated to by his tenants, the city mayor, the Human Relations Committee, the Welfare Department and the police chief. Please note that all these agencies are supported through continued higher taxes.

On several occasions I have tried to have particular tenants evicted, but I have been blocked by these agencies. Court costs and legal fees eat up the little profit that is left after the high taxes are paid.

In closing, I would like to make the point I was never informed of this "engaging publicity." I am only too willing to meet with those agencies to consider any points they would like to make concerning the property.

Charles Pavlidis, 76 St. James Street.

Why Not 'Get With It' Folks?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I know you are not a fashion editor, but maybe you can help me. There is continual friction between me and my husband over the length of my skirts. I will be 50 this year and have four grown children and four grandchildren.

I have a nice figure, work in an office and wear my skirts to the middle of my kneecap.

My husband, who is a business executive, says I am too modest and old fashioned, that I should "get with it" and wear my skirts shorter like the fashionable women do.

I think teen-agers look cute with short skirts, but after 40 a woman should have a little more dignity about her.

I should I shorten my skirts to please my husband? Or should I leave them the way they are and get an argument from my husband every week? "SMITTY" IN TORONTO

DEAR "SMITTY": Tell your husband you'll shorten your skirts if he'll let his hair grow down to his shoulders, wear skin tight trousers, and a turtle-neck sweater to his office. Then you can "get with it" together.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school student. Last week end my very best girl friend slept over. The day after she left my mother missed about $12 worth of her good cosmetics. I didn't want my mother to think my friend had taken them so I said I had "borrowed" them and left them somewhere.

Now I am being punished, but I would almost rather take the punishment than have my mother think my girl friend was a thief. Abby, I turned the house up side down looking for those cosmetics, and they are just gone!

Should I tell my mother I had nothing to do with it, and it just had to be that girl? Or should I take the punishment and let it go? BEING BLAMED

DEAR BEING: If you can catch your girl friend with the evidence, do so and give her a chance to return the stolen goods. If you can't, tell your mother that you didn't take her cosmetics and that you lied to protect a friend who may not have deserved it.

DEAR ABBY: The boy next door bit our daughter on the face. The skin was broken so we had to take her to the doctor for tests and medical care. I asked the doctor to send the bill to the boy's parents.

He did, but now the doctor tells me that they did not pay it. Don't you think they should pay this bill instead of me? What should I do? MAD

DEAR MAD: Pay the doctor. Then retain a lawyer to tell your neighbor that you expect repayment and (possibly) punitive damages.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEWILDERED DAD" IN BOULDER: Let him mind the next job himself. Every time you carry a strong, healthy person who can walk, you contribute to his weakness.

Surf Clears Oil

BOSTON (AP) — Gale-swept seas and heavy surf have cleared oil from Massachusetts waters and beaches, the Coast Guard reported today.

The surf buried oil-soaked beaches under clean sand during two days of wind and rain. On Nantucket Island, Police Chief Wendell H. Howes said Wednesday, after touring a 12-mile stretch of beach that had been oil slicked, the area was "completely cleaned" of all oil traces. Gale winds along the coast apparently dispersed two oil slicks that were spotted lingering off shore, the Coast Guard said.

Claims Liberal Attitude Caused Ouster From CU

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young priest - professor whose dismissal from his Catholic University teaching post has sparked faculty and student protests says Catholic theologians must be free to pursue religious truths.

"The issues in this dismissal are greater than any one man," said the Rev. Charles E. Curran.

Both Catholic theology in America and Catholic university education are in question."

He told a news conference his liberal writings on Catholic moral theology and his liberal attitude toward birth control probably caused his dismissal. He said no charges had been made against him.

Father Curran, 33, picked up support Wednesday as fellow faculty members and students began boycotting classes over the Board of Trustees decision to terminate his teaching contract when it expires Aug. 31.

The 22-member faculty of the School of Sacred Theology, of which Curran is a member, passed a resolution saying "we cannot and will not function unless and until Father Curran is reinstated."

One Delegate's Viewpoint

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION REPORT

by
S. James Matthews

One hundred ninety years ago today, the first constitution of the State of New York was adopted. On the site of the present county courthouse in the City of Kingston, the first state document was read to a few on-lookers who had gathered out of curiosity and upon their approval, the document was ratified.

It was a revolutionary document in keeping with tumultuous times. That initial state charter was also brief, likewise, reflecting frontier simplicity.

Nearly two centuries later and with an additional 40-some thousand words added to the instrument, the 186 delegates to the Ninth Constitutional Convention are presently struggling to capture the spark that will ignite the minds of men as did that first document. The job is not easy.

In certain respects, that first group had a much simpler task. They started with a clean slate. There were no established governmental institutions to disrupt.

Neither did those early drafters have to be concerned by the effect their document would have on prevailing statutes and case law as handed down by the courts. There just weren't any such impediments in existence.

First Had Innovations

The first constitution had many innovations. It contained the first Bill of Rights adopted on the North American continent and led the way for the inclusion of similar safeguards being incorporated in the Federal constitution, a decade later.

The separation of the three branches of government, executive, legislative and judicial, was also recognized for the first time. Up until that time the parliamentary procedure of having the legislative leader as the chief executive prevailed.

The memories of tyrant King George was very much in the minds of those constitutional delegates. In order to protect the people from excessive executive power, the first charter provided for appointments to governmental office to be handled by a committee composed of the governor and other leaders from the legislature.

Young Men Were Authors

The principal drafters of the Empire State's first state document were John Jay, Robert Livingston and Governor Morris, the oldest being in his mid-30's. These young men were to leave their imprint on the nation's and state's later history.

They were daring and imaginative in their approach to the basic framework of governmental activity. Jay also played a large role, although generally unrecognized, in drafting our Federal constitution.

Now meeting in another attempt to redraft New York's Charter, we delegates pause at the observance of this significant milestone and hope that we too possess the gumption to be different, to be experimental. If we can blaze new trails towards the goal of New York's citizens greater destiny, perhaps two centuries from now someone will pause and say nice things about us.

Syracuse Man Killed

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A 58-year-old man was killed on a city street early today when he was struck by a hit-run vehicle, police said.

The pedestrian was Howard William of Syracuse.

William's address was 823 Butternut St.

Peking Symbol Of Hate Now In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist China, once Indonesia's great friend and ally, has become a symbol of hate here, and the million or so Chinese aliens in this country are feeling the effects.

An officially sponsored anti-Peking line has combined with traditional anti-Chinese sentiments among Indonesia's Moslem people to create an atmosphere of tension for the Chinese.

This situation developed following the 1965 coup d'etat attempt organized by the pro-Peking Indonesian Communist party, PKI. Communist China was accused of having a hand in it.

The coup was smashed by army forces led by Gen. Suharto, now acting president. The collapse of the Red movement triggered a massive anti-Communist campaign throughout Indonesia in which hundreds of thousands were slain. The PKI was destroyed and its remnants were driven underground.

Since then, Chinese aliens, most of whom owe their allegiance to Peking have become virtually equated with Communists.

'Bogie' Always Cool, Loose Author Reasons

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The late Humphrey Bogart has become the center of a cult, most of whose members are so young they can only have seen his films in their endless television reruns or in revivals.

Joe Hyams, a former Hollywood newspaperman and author of a book, "Bogart," believes that he understands why Bogart is popular today with fans young enough to be his children. "Bogart was always cool and loose, the way they'd like to be," he said. "His voice was a rasp and he even had a lisp, but he was tough outside while there was something warm inside. He may be partly father image, but there's also something about him that they can identify with."

Hyams served as production consultant for "Bogart," a documentary about the actor which will be broadcast on ABC next Sunday and found the assignment presented problems unknown to a book author but also revealed facets of his subject that literary research left concealed.

Hyams found himself watching endless hours of old films. "It was fascinating to watch him develop," he said. "He always had a natural way of taking a woman in his arms, but it became smoother."

Hyams also observed that in their many films together both Bogart and James Cagney invariably wound up repeating almost identical closing lines and even wore clothes they had used in earlier films.

Except for Carv Grant and perhaps a couple of others, Hyams thinks that film stars don't come in Bogart's dimensions today.

Seven more Saugerties string students will be participating later.

New Paltz Campus School, New Paltz High School, Rondout Valley and Walkkill. The orchestra includes 22 first violins, 22 second violins, four violas, eight cellos, six bass violins, four flutes, two oboes, four clarinets, one bassoon, two trumpets, five French horns, two trombones and three percussionists.

Work Party Will Install a Siren

The regular monthly meeting of the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company was held last week at the Ruby Firehouse with some 20 members present. Plans were made to install an additional siren in the vicinity of Halcyon Park and a work party for this purpose will be held this Sunday at 10 a. m.

The dance committee reported that the St. Patrick's Day dance was a complete success. The affair was sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary and the company, and both organizations expressed thanks to everyone who bought tickets and attended the dance. It was reported that a number of people are already asking for another dance and a committee was appointed to work with the Auxiliary to work out details.

Rondout Budget Reflects Costs; Salary Review

The Rondout Valley Central School Board of Education held a special meeting Tuesday night to review the 1967-68 budget for the district. The budget will be presented for approval at the annual district meeting to be held at the Junior-Senior High School at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, May 2.

The budget will reflect increasing costs of school operation. Three factors have contributed to the increase: no additional state aid, the rise in mandated costs (salaries, debt payments, fringe benefits etc.), and underfinancing for the current school year. Reviewing budget figures was prompted by concern for economy on the part of both board and administration.

Also a matter of concern is the status of teacher salaries. Dr. Ted T. Grenda, Superintendent of Schools, expressed his regret that not as much progress as desired has been made in this vital area. He pointed out that Rondout is at a distinct disadvantage, county-wide, in the teacher market, since starting salary for district teachers is $5,800 as opposed to the county-wide average of $6,000. Dr. Grenda made it clear that this matter will receive serious attention.

Aside from this, Dr. Grenda feels that the budget to be submitted for approval is sound, realistic and necessary. It is expected that budget figures will be available Monday for area taxpayers to review prior to the May 2 meeting date.

Summer Bond Sale

It was also resolved to sell $150,000 worth of bonds for the construction of the new Rosendale School and for supplemental funds for Middle School and high school construction some time during the summer. A change order was approved for the elimination of a galvanized water line to the existing chlorination system, resulting in a credit to the district of $797.

A number of faculty appointments was approved by the board. The following teachers will join district staffs for the 1967-68 school year: Dennis Crowley, Latin, English; Joseph Ferrara, Biology; Mrs. Jacqueline Hayes, Miss Ingrid Hengstenberg and Mrs. Anne McGrath, Elementary; Jon Lee Pettit, Industrial Arts; Michael Polcari, Elementary Guidance. Two replacements for the balance of the current school year were also confirmed: Mrs. Marjorie Dumbbar, replacing Leo Quinlivan, and Mrs. Helen Winer, replacing Mrs. Judith Fiedler.

The board regrettably accepted the resignations of Mrs. Lora Long, High School Librarian, and Mrs. Patricia Parmenter, Marletown Elementary.

A request to transport three students to the John A. Coleman High School was received and has been tabled pending an analysis of September transportation needs.

The payment of expenses for faculty chaperones for the May 5 Senior Class trip was approved.

Reds Sentence Student

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet court sentenced a West German student today to four years in a labor camp for spreading propaganda urging the overthrow of the Communist regime.

Volker Schaffhauser, 25, of Heidelberg, admitted he smuggled subversive microfilms into the country in his toilet kit, in a cigarette package and in a fountain pen for an organization of known as N.T.S.

Schaffhauser was expected to appeal for a shorter sentence. The West German, a student of Slavic languages, said N.T.S. paid for his trip to the Soviet Union.

Plans were also made for an educational retreat at Lake Mohonk on Thursday, May 4. At this time administrative officers and the District Planning Committee will explore possibilities and evolve plans to meet district needs and will set objectives and goals for the 1967-68 school year.

Saturday Dinner To Aid Firemen

Centerville Fire Company will hold a roast beef dinner at its fire station on Route 212 this Saturday, with all proceeds from the meal to be used for its building fund.

Firemen point out that a new fire truck has been purchased for the company and that it will be necessary to expand the present station. Eventually, three pumpers will be housed at the Centerville facility in order to provide more and better protection for residents of the district.

The building committee, which worked long and hard on the project, devised the present plan which calls for an addition of two more bays immediately adjacent to the present structure. For this reason, members of the company would like to see as many people as possible attending the Saturday dinner. Servings will be at 5, 6 and 7 p. m. on a first-come, first-served basis. The big meal will be served family style and those attending will be greeted with the welcoming words, "Eat all you can eat." Tickets are available at varying prices for adults and children under 12-years-of-age. These may be purchased from members of the company or at the door.

Centerville firemen note that they need the cooperation of the public and they urge old and young alike to come and enjoy an excellent dinner while helping them to help the residents of the area.

Community Hall To Remain Open

Plans were being formulated at a meeting last week to keep the West Saugerties Community Hall open during July and August this year to enable club members from the city to attend meetings.

Members meeting at that time welcomed the newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilfert to the club and announcement was made that a membership drive is currently being conducted for old and new members. Mrs. Angelina Richards, president, said the group will be most happy to welcome one and all.

Visiting the club as the guest of Mrs. Frank Fanesse was Miss Eileen Gallagher, of Brooklyn. Award for the night went to Caroline Rutke at the recent meeting and members heard two poems read by the president and Anna Yakin respectively, entitled To My Friend and The Dogwood Legend.

Louisville Protestors Are Jailed

By C. M. GILMOUR JR.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police quashed a demonstration for an open-house ordinance by hauling every one of about 100 marchers to jail Wednesday night.

The arrests apparently removed doubts about the city's action on its temporary ban against night marches by the demonstrators. Earlier Wednesday, a federal judge rejected a petition on behalf of the demonstrators to remove the case from state to U.S. District Court.

Fire Tear Gas
Police twice fired tear-gas pellets into a crowd of more than 700 hecklers, at times forcing them two blocks away from demonstrators.

A police captain said the hecklers appeared angrier than during other of the almost nightly demonstrations. Police arrested a total of 113 persons including some hecklers for throwing rocks, scuffling with police or failing to obey orders to move out.

Moments after marchers arrived in the South End, Police Chief William Bindner helped drag away the first of the rights advocates who sat down to sing freedom songs.

Some of the Negroes cried "police brutality" as officers took them into patrol wagons and took them to jail. Several demonstrators were scratched and bruised.

Consider Drive-In
The Rev. A.D. Williams King said he and others on the committee on open housing were considering a drive-in. This tactic, he said, involved having about 200 autos drive through busy intersections at a maximum speed of 10 miles an hour. King is a brother of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The Rev. Mr. King is free on bond after being charged with disorderly conduct in a previous march. He was not among the marchers Wednesday night as some of the leaders said they would bow out to "confuse police who are singling us out for arrest."

One newsman and a city detective were hit by rocks thrown by hecklers Wednesday night.

Bindner indicated some of the demonstrators would be charged with conspiracy to organize acts of disorderly conduct. Others are being held on a variety of charges.

After the city refused last week to pass an open-house law, officials obtained a temporary order in Jefferson County Circuit Court to ban night marches. Attorneys for the rights leaders asked federal court to take jurisdiction but U.S. District Judge Henry Brooks, sitting at Paducah, said he had no authority to order the transfer.

Petitioners claimed they were entitled to relief under federal law and their rights were being violated by leaving the case in the state court.

Hurt in Mishap

Joseph Suski, of 389 First Avenue, (no age noted), was injured in a car-bicycle mishap Wednesday night at Murray Street and Hasbrouck Avenue. Police said Suski, who was treated by a doctor for hip injuries, was riding the bicycle and the driver of the car continued without stopping after it struck the rear of the bicycle and knocked Suski to the street. Officer Duncan Greene investigated.

Charge Drunken Driving in 375 One-Car Mishap

Two youths were injured and a motorist was charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, as the result of a one-car mishap which occurred at 11 p. m. Wednesday on Route 375 about one mile south of Route 212, Town of Hurley.

Trooper James Clark of the Kingston substation said Charles Scully, 18, of RD 2, Kingston, was driving his car south on Rt. 375 when the vehicle failed to negotiate a left curve, veered off the right side of the highway, hit a culvert, went through a fence, crossed a private driveway and dropped off a four-foot stonewall into a field.

Scully was cited by Trooper James Fitzgerald for drunken driving. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Edmund R. Bower, Town of Hurley, troopers said.

Scully and a passenger, 20-year-old Arthur R. Purdy, 85 Cedar Street, city, were taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for multiple abrasions and contusions, according to the investigating officer.

ROSENDALE POPPY DRIVE—Members of Ladies Auxiliary of American Legion Post 1219, Rosendale-Tillson give Rosendale Mayor Joseph S. Reid a preview of the annual poppy sale which will kick-off the second week in May. With the mayor are Mrs. Walter Van Gasbeck, unit poppy chairman and Mrs. Daniel J. McMonagle, unit president. Proceeds of the drive are used to assist rehabilitation programs in veterans administration hospitals. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

For 2nd Local 177 Registered History Ser.

A total of 177 people registered for the second annual Regional Workshop on Local History of Ulster County and the Kingston area which opened April 5.

It is being sponsored jointly by Ulster County Community College and the Ulster County Historical Society. The coordinators are Professor Harry Matzen, of UCC and Harry Rigby Jr., of the Historical Society. "The number who registered is about the same as last year," said Professor Matzen, "and we expect the workshop to be another outstanding success this year."

The topic for the third workshop, set for April 19 at the County Courthouse in Kingston, will be the famous artist, John Vanderlyn who was a native of Kingston. The lecturer will be Dr. Salvatore Mondello, of Ulster County Community College, who currently is writing a book on Vanderlyn.

George V. D. Hutton of Kingston will talk on 19th Century Indian reservations in the U.S., excluding Alaska.

Hudson Valley Architecture at the fourth workshop session. It will be conducted April 26 at the Dutch Reformed Church in Hurley.

Plan Panel in May
For the fifth session, there will be a panel discussion May 3 at the Kingston High School Auditorium on Ulster County in the 1970's. The moderator for this panel will be Professor Matzen. The panelists will include Mr. Rigby, a vice president of the State of New York National Bank; the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, minister of the Old Dutch Church, Kingston; Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, trustee of the State University College at New Paltz; Dr. Richard Messina, president of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic, Ulster County Chapter; Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated; and W. Dale Swartzmiller of the State Commerce Department.

In addition, a tea is planned May 10 from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. at the Bevier House, Marlletown, headquarters of the Ulster County Historical Society, when workshop members will receive their certificates.

Slate June 20 For Primaries, May 9-16 Filing

ALBANY—The partial 1967 political calendar announced today by Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo sets May 9 to 16 as the dates for filing designating petitions for the June 20 primary election.

April 4 was the first day for signing designating petitions while May 19 is the last day to accept or decline designations and the final day to authorize designation.

Lomenzo said the last day to fill a vacancy after declination is May 23.

The first day for signing petitions for the Opportunity to Ballot is May 2 and the last day for filing such petitions is May 23. The last day for filing after declination is May 31.

Voting hours in the June 20 primary election will be 3 to 10 p. m., in New York City and elsewhere in the state, 12 noon to 9 p. m.

Lomenzo said that the complete political calendar will be announced after the 30-day bill-signing period.

Governor Rockefeller now has several bills on his desk dealing with local registration. May 2 is the end of the 30-day bill-signing period.

When the political calendar is complete copies may be obtained from the Election and Law Bureau of the Department of State, 162 Washington Avenue, Albany.

Toastmasters Switch

Rule Out Cornell Negligence

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — A coroner has ruled that there was no evidence of criminal negligence in a fire at Cornell University and eight students were killed.

Dr. Ralph J. Low, Tompkins County coroner, issued that ruling Wednesday at the conclusion of an inquest here attended by about 30 persons.

Low also said the cause of the fire had not yet been determined.

He recommended that the investigation be continued by the district attorney's office until the cause is known.

"The evidence presented at this inquest is such as to minimize the possibility of mechanical accident and to make the fire more probably the result of human carelessness or malice," Low said.

"I also find that, although there did exist a tragic combination of physical circumstances in the building, which might have contributed to those deaths, I do not find criminal negligence," the coroner asserted.

Close Catholic High

BENNINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The Most Rev. Robert F. Joyce, Roman Catholic bishop of Burlington, says he can no longer afford to operate the Bennington Catholic High School and will close it in June.

Bishop Joyce, whose diocese included all Vermont, announced the decision Wednesday.

The Holy Cross Fathers, who teach in the school, are leaving at the end of the current year because of a reorganization plan that would require them to be paid for the teaching services they now provide free of charge.

Bishop Joyce said retaining the priests would cost $40,000 a year.

Members of the parish churches which support the school voted to keep it open if they could get a $20,000 annual subsidy from the diocese.

But Bishop Joyce said he could not do that unless he gave a similar subsidy to other high schools in the diocese.

The school has an enrollment of 350 students who probably will be transferred to Mount Anthony Union High School.

The first savings and loan association in the U.S. opened in 1831.

SEATO Backs U.S. Stand On Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The SEATO Foreign Ministers Council today supported the U.S. refusal to end the bombing of North Vietnam unless there is also a scaling down of military action by the Communist side in the Vietnamese war.

A communiqué issued by the council, concluding its 12th annual meeting, declared that "reciprocity is an essential element of any acceptable proposal for reduction in the fighting."

The seven-nation group — making up SEATO — the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — France boycotted the conference — also issued a new warning against Communist aggression, both overt and by subversion, infiltration and terrorism, accompanied by vicious propaganda, remains a major threat to the peace and security of the area."

Hippocrates, about 400 B.C., taught that diseases have natural, rather than supernatural causes.

Houdaille Earnings Up

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Houdaille Industries reported today first-quarter net earnings of $1.19 million, up 17 per cent over a year ago and equal to 35 cents a share.

This compared with $1 million, or 29 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1966.

Houdaille said 1967 sales totaled $39 million in the first three months against $36.6 million in the comparable period last year.

Plan to Draft Smuggling Curbs For Cigarettes

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller plans to call a conference of representatives of 16 tobacco-taxing states to seek new ways to fight the smuggling of cigarettes to evade taxes.

Joseph H. Murphy, New York State's commissioner of taxation and finance, said Wednesday that invitations to the conference probably will go also to federal officials, tobacco industry officials and representatives of North Carolina, a cigarette-producing state that has no cigarette tax.

Murphy said the plan is to take up "interstate action, criminal infiltration of legitimate business, general law enforcement problems and a general discussion of cigarette tax problems."

City Finance Director Roy M. Goodman has estimated that cigarette bootlegging — mostly by truck from tobacco states in the South — is costing New York State and the city $60 million a year by evasion of the combined state-city taxes of 16 cents a pack.

Six major cigarette manufacturing companies were reported unofficially Wednesday to have agreed to turn over records to investigators here who are checking on whether regular cigarette distributors may be evading taxes.

Stages Tea Party
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dorothy Shinder, protesting taxation, staged the Great San Francisco Tea Party Wednesday, using empty boxes marked "tea."

Shinder, a spinster who contends unmarried persons should not be taxed more than married ones, disguised herself as an Indian (like her Boston predecessors), boarded a boat, and said to about a dozen like-minded spinsters: "When I give the signal, you dump the boxes in the bay. But wait until the camera gets you." She meant the television and news cameras, for which the whole thing was performed.

Just then a booming voice from the pier at Fisherman's Wharf asked, "What in the hell do you think you're doing?"

The voice came from a port official who advised Miss Shinder there was a $500 fine for dumping refuse in San Francisco Bay. Fishermen answered her appeal and fished the bobbing boxes from the water.

The Coast Guard boarded her boat for "routine check" and cited its master for failing to have a bell aboard and failing to have a certificate of numbers, the sea-going equivalent of driving without a license.

Student Deferments
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reading an order to cut down the chance of students avoiding military service by staying in college graduate schools, says Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

The 73-year-old lieutenant general told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday the order should end complaints about "pyramiding deferments" into permanent exemption.

Hershey, who has been running Selective Service since before World War II, asked for extension of the draft law with few changes. Key features of the law expire June 30.

Finds Pot of Gold
MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon boy found a pot of gold by the banks of the Muskegon River — and got to keep it.

Danny Shumita, 13, was putting around by the river on March 27, 1966, looking for interesting rocks when he found a glass jar stuffed with $2,990 worth of greenbacks.

Danny took the money home to his father, Rudolph, who turned the hoard over to Muskegon police.

Now police have returned the money to Danny.

Under Michigan law, if no one claims lost articles within a year, the finder gets to keep them, provided a reasonable effort has been made to locate the owner.

Danny, an eighth grader said he plans to use the money to finance a college education.

Finds Pot of Gold
MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon boy found a pot of gold by the banks of the Muskegon River — and got to keep it.

Danny Shumita, 13, was putting around by the river on March 27, 1966, looking for interesting rocks when he found a glass jar stuffed with $2,990 worth of greenbacks.

Danny took the money home to his father, Rudolph, who turned the hoard over to Muskegon police.

Now police have returned the money to Danny.

Under Michigan law, if no one claims lost articles within a year, the finder gets to keep them, provided a reasonable effort has been made to locate the owner.

Danny, an eighth grader said he plans to use the money to finance a college education.

Scotland's sacred isle, Iona, was the center of Christianity in the 17th century.

Board Thanks Gormley for Ambulance Gift

The Town of Shandaken Board has expressed public appreciation to Eugene B. Gormley III for his donation of a fully equipped ambulance to the town.

Spring Triggers Door-to-Door Sales Practices

The sunny days of early spring have once again made it open season for fast talking door-to-door salesmen and their shady practices, attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz warned today.

The Attorney General said that balmy weather this week has brought an upsurge in complaints of questionable door-to-door sales practices.

Invasion Begun

"These complaints indicate that the annual invasion of the unscrupulous salesmen has begun," he added.

The Attorney General said that the records of the Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection of his office show that itinerant pitchmen, who are not to be confused with representatives of reputable sales companies, invade suburbia each spring equipped with every gimmick and dodge in the book. Their wares range from fertilizer to vacuum cleaners.

He noted that homeowners in particular, anxious for improvements in their homes each spring, are a favorite target for the gyp artist who offers his "services" and "know-how" from door to door.

The Attorney General gave this typical example of how the home owner may be cheated.

Using unmarked trucks, the itinerant pitchmen select a house with a well-worn driveway and approach the occupants with the story that they have just finished a job in the neighborhood and have enough leftover materials to resurface the driveway, offering a five year guarantee. Actually, the surfacing material is likely to wash off in the first hard rain.

Work Is Flimsy

"Their manner may be convincing," Attorney General Lefkowitz said, "but their work is as flimsy as their material, their guarantees are false and the prices are excessively high."

The Attorney General stressed the importance of checking with local contractors as to the fairness of price of particular improvement and warned against signing vague or incomplete contracts which are often deliberately unspecific about materials and services to be rendered and completion dates.

Attorney General Lefkowitz offered the following guide which should be used to avoid being victimized:

1. Ask to see the credentials of any sales representative who calls at your door.
2. Check the sales price of services or merchandise with your local merchant.
3. Use simple arithmetic to check the computations on an installment contract for sales or services.
4. Never sign a contract with blank spaces or which you do not understand, regardless of what the salesman may tell you.

Consult Someone

5. When you do not understand the terms of a sales contract, consult someone who does, a lawyer if necessary.
6. Ask if the sales price includes installation and delivery. If you want these services included, tell the salesman to write a statement to that effect in the contract, specifying in detail the type of service and the period in which it will be performed.
7. In the case of home improvements, never sign a statement that the work is complete

Cole Directed To Estimate Tab For Street Job

Public Works Superintendent Charles J. Cole was directed by the Board of Public Works Wednesday night to prepare estimates on a spring and summer street repair program which is to be presented to the Common Council at its May meeting.

Most of the work this year, Cole said, will be resurfacing rather than reconstruction of streets.

Left over from last year was the reconstruction of Foxhall Avenue. Most immediate work there is due to start Monday between Hasbrouck Avenue and Garden Street. Through traffic in this block will not be permitted between 7 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Monday through Friday.

It was noted that starting today the public works department was due to begin a limited program of eliminating weeds and brush along certain streets and highways by a process of spraying. It is the city's first use of this method.

Some 9½ miles of street and highway sections are to be covered. Spraying will extend from six to 10 feet from curbs and road shoulders. Among streets to be covered are Abeel and North streets, Wilbur Avenue and the Boulevard.

In preparing street programs in recent years the department has asked for recommendations from aldermen in all wards, and while the department has been unable to repair all streets listed by aldermen those mostly in need of repair in the various wards have usually been listed.

unless it really is. If you sign such a statement before the work is finished, as a general rule you will have to make full payment whether or not the contractor fulfills his agreement.

8. Check the reputation of the salesman and his company with your local chamber of commerce or Better Business Bureau.
9. If you feel that you have been victimized by any unfair or fraudulent sales practice, report the fact to the Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection of the Attorney General's office, 80 Centre Street, New York 13, N. Y.
10. Remember that the legitimate salesman, who represents the vast majority of door-to-door sales representatives, invites your investigation.

Extend Bartlett Study Committee On Penal Law

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Bartlett Commission, which began as a temporary body to study the state's penal law and criminal code, has received an extension to continue its work to March 31, 1968.

The bill to extend the commission's life was signed Wednesday by Gov. Rockefeller, as he continued to chomp away at the 945 bills left on his desk for action by the 1967 Legislature.

The Republican governor has until May 2 to act on them. If the governor takes no action on a bill, it automatically is rejected.

The commission, headed by former Republican Assemblyman Richard J. Bartlett of Glens Falls, is officially named the Temporary Commission on Revision of the Penal Law and Criminal Code. It drafted the model code that resulted in the updated penal law.

The governor also vetoed legislation that forbids boaters from traveling with 100 feet of a red flag and white bar indicating the presence of underwater divers.

Signed a bill that authorizes the Conservation Department to revoke the license of a hunter using a rifle or bow and arrow, who shoot their weapons negligently.

Vetoed a bill that would have barred the State Liquor Authority from imposing disciplinary action on the holder of a liquor license who is acquitted of criminal charges.

The Bartlett Commission already has submitted sections of its draft for revision of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The changes, generally, deal with the procedure for handling a person accused of a crime from the time he is arraigned to the time he goes on trial.

Bartlett said he expects the commission to complete its work before July. Then, he said, the proposed changes would be presented at a series of public hearings, probably beginning in September.

After the commission hears the public's opinion, it will decide whether to make changes before submitting the draft model to the 1968 Legislature.

In his veto of the bill treating disciplinary action by the State Liquor Authority, Rockefeller cited opposition to the measure by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

The governor said that courts such as the S.L.A. apply different standards the guilt or innocence of a license holder accused of a crime. The S.L.A., for example, needs only substantial evidence to justify its action.

On the other hand, courts must conclude that there is evidence sufficient to prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Poll Says Nixon Is Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Most Republican county chairmen want Richard M. Nixon as their presidential candidate, according to pollster George Gallup, but Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is warning them that the GOP's only chance of winning in 1968 is "to stay behind George Romney."

Gallup said nearly two-thirds of 2,137 county chairmen polled listed the former vice president as their preference. Asked which man they thought would be nominated, regardless of their own feelings, 1,237 picked Nixon and 510 chose Michigan Gov. Romney.

Rockefeller, who has repeatedly disavowed any interest in the nomination, made his statement in a letter released Wednesday. It came in reply to one by Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon urging GOP governors to withhold a presidential endorsement until they could act as a group. The letter was seen here as an anti-Romney move, but McCall rejected this interpretation.

Rockefeller said Romney is "consistently running around 10 points ahead of Lyndon Johnson in the polls throughout the country. He is the first and only Republican since Gen. Eisenhower to be in that position."

Any move to undercut him or proliferate the moderate support or even to consult with a view to looking to other candidates will, in my humble opinion, simply deliver the nomination to the other side on a silver platter."

Has Backed Nixon

The "other side" was believed to be the party's conservative wing which has backed Nixon.

Gallup said a recent sounding of GOP rank and file showed Nixon ahead of Romney by 39 per cent to 30 per cent. Independents, Gallup said, showed Romney in front with 33 per cent and Nixon 25 per cent.

The public opinion survey also reported that the county chairmen found President Johnson a tougher opponent than Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. Johnson was listed as hardest to beat by 1,185 chairman and Kennedy by 715.

Population Decreased

The population of Warsaw, Poland, decreased from an estimated 1,289,000 before World War II to about 153,000 in 1945 due to the attacks and extermination policies of both the Soviet Union and Germany.

Schonger Buys White Horse Inn

George F. Schonger, former manager of a bottled gas firm on Albany Avenue for 15 years, has purchased the White Horse Inn on Route 375 Woodstock, and plans extensive alterations to the building, landscaping and a new motel.

The transaction was consummated this week for the property formerly owned by Max and Wally Lensky. Julius Ziegler, Woodstock, was the real estate broker at the closing of title to the property.

Schonger said he plans to continue the German cuisine, which has been popular at the White Horse Inn for many years. Ed Logan, well known area bartender, has taken a position in that capacity at the Inn.

The new owner was manager of Terwilliger Brothers Bottled Gas firm for 15 years and for eight years was a salesman for DeWitt-Cadillac in this city. Mrs. Schonger, the former Ruth Hasbrouck, is ninth in descent of the old and prominent Hasbrouck family and four in descent from Elias Hasbrouck, the first supervisor of the Town of Woodstock. She had been legal secretary to John E. Egan for 15 years and also serves as secretary to Abram F. Molyneux, Ulster County attorney.

The new owner said landscaping of the grounds to beautify the popular restaurant, is now underway. Extensive renovations and redecorating will be made, according to plans. Mrs. Schonger, who will be associated with her husband in the business, said "already notable changes are being made at the premises."

Schonger noted that in addition to other improvements to the interior of the building, he will have a six-unit motel built at the rear of the main premises.

The Schonger's residence is on Route 375, opposite the White Horse Inn.

In Iran, the new year is welcomed with No-Ruz, a spring-time celebration.

Practical Relationship

State Fatuation
With Economists
No Sudden Thing

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — More and more state governments are seeking the aid of professional economists to battle the eternal problem of restricted revenue and growing responsibility.

These professionals advise governors, help coordinate policies with the federal government and its 200 grant-in-aid programs, seek new tax sources. Above all, however, they seek to establish a realistic economic policy.

Patterned After U.S.
Stations Ban 3
New Records

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Six recently issued records have been banned by three of McLendon Corporation's radio stations because, a management spokesman said, they "overstep the boundaries of good taste."

The stations, which feature rock 'n' roll music, are WYSL in Buffalo, KILP in Houston and KJLP in Dallas. Robert Luther, WYSL manager, said Wednesday.

The corporation also owns other stations in San Francisco, Chicago and Los Angeles which reportedly do not feature that type of music.

WYSL plans to refuse to review any records sent to the station unless they are accompanied by lyric sheets for each side of the record. Luther added. This becomes effective May 15.

He said lawyers had advised him not to reveal the names of the banned records.

McLendon has denounced recently issued records as "coming through life with raunchy lyrics." His comment was in the form of printed advertisements in trade magazines and broadcast editorials.

List Cord Short
As Fire Cause in Space Chamber

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space chamber fire in which two airmen were killed last January was ignited when one of them stepped on a lamp cord and caused it to short circuit, says a panel of Air Force investigators.

Col. A.G. Swan, director of research and development at the Brooks Air Force Base Aerospace Medical Center, and a team of research assistants outlined the fire and its cause to a congressional committee Wednesday.

Mishap Jan. 31
An Armed Services subcommittee in the House called for the probe after Airmen 3.C. Richard A. Harmon, 21, of Auburn, N.Y., and William F. Bartley Jr., 20, of Indianapolis, Ind., were killed in the chamber when its half air and half oxygen atmosphere ignited. The fire occurred on Jan. 31 at Brooks AFB in San Antonio, Tex.

The committee saw photographs and looked at movie films of tests held to reconstruct the fatal scene. It appeared from the demonstration that the spark that ignited inside the chamber was caused when one of the airmen stepped on a light cord on the chamber floor, causing a short in the circuit.

Swan said the light cord was part of a lamp placed in the chamber to warm the ears of several rabbits to facilitate the extraction of blood from their ears.

Measures Taken
Swan said several measures were being taken to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy. He said these included the development of fiberglass clothing and a more effective automatic fire extinguishing system.

Rep. Samuel Stratton, a N.Y., and head of the committee that called for the investigation, commended Swan and the research team for determining the cause of the fire.

Old Dance Returning
NEW YORK (AP) — Society orchestra leader Meyer Davis says old-style dancing — that's where you hold your partner — may be on the way back.

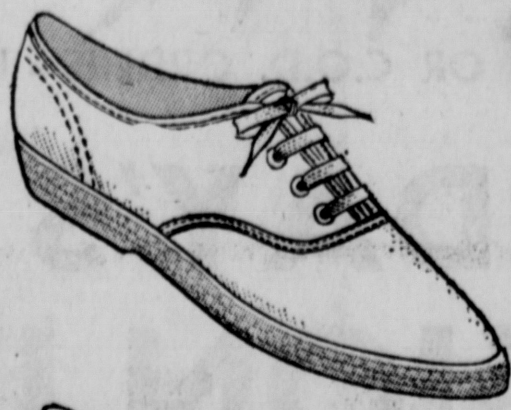

The 71-year-old Davis, who has catered to the musical whims of dancers for 45 years, said young people are beginning to tire of having a contest with a partner.

The younger set, he said Wednesday, is "beginning to see there's pleasure in holding a member of the opposite sex."

List Saugerties School Budget At $3,476,142 With $103.55 Rate

Saugerties Central School District budget, it is estimated, will raise the school tax rate approximately 62 cents for $1000 evaluation. The estimated tax rate will be $103.55, based on figures now available and others which must be estimated at this time.

A total of $3,476,142.14 was approved for 1967-68 by the Board of Education at this week's meeting. This amount represents an increase of $285,621.97 over last year's budget. Major increase in the budget is due to an increase in teacher salaries. Commenting upon the budget, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dexter O. Arnold stated that the Board of Education, principals, coordinators and teachers had worked cooperatively in arriving at the many individual items within the budget.

Must Supply Tools
He stated, "It was our responsibility to supply the tools of instruction, supplies, materials and equipment needed by our staff to properly conduct the educational process. Good workmen deserve good tools, and we have made a cooperative effort to meet these needs, never forgetting that we would be expected to use these materials efficiently, effectively and to keep cost to the taxpayer as low as possible."

Increases in revenue have also helped in holding the line on the tax rate. Under the usual formula State aid will normally increase, and in addition, the district will receive an estimated $28,812 reimbursed through Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services. It was estimated that state lottery aid amounting to $25,546 will be received. On the basis of present computations of $3,476,142.14, a total of $2, 342,486.49 will be received from various sources leaving $1,133,655.65 to be raised through local taxation.

The need for additional elementary facilities to house increasing numbers of Saugerties pupils was discussed. Dr. Arnold pointed out that every useable room is now in use and that three additional rooms will be needed in September 1967 for elementary pupils. Although approximately 275 sixth grade pupils will be leaving the elementary schools in June, kindergarten enrollment of 407 is anticipated.

It is expected that the 356 first grade pupils will be placed in split sessions in September in order to meet the additional necessary rooms. Everyone regrets the necessity for this action, he explained, but until a bond issue is voted for additional space, the number of grades placed on split sessions will have to increase each year.

Pupils Short Changed
The pupils concerned are short changed on time and educational opportunity, home life is disrupted and parents are inconvenienced, teaching conditions become more difficult, transportation costs increase and the problem of assignment of pupils to schools multiplies. He indicated that costs of school building construction are constantly rising and it will be necessary to review the bond issue amount previously considered.

The most practical solution to the problem at this time is the construction of additions to the Glasco and Mt. Marion Schools. This plan will not only add to enrollment capacity, but also provide facilities now lacking in some of the schools. It will be a tremendous help in assigning pupils from the same locality to the same school which is one of the goals towards which the administration is constantly working.

Another major advantage of the plan is that present facilities, land and staff will be utilized to a greater extent, thus reducing the cost to taxpayers under other plans.

As the option to purchase land adjacent to the Glasco School expires on May 1, the Board voted to renew its option on the Fabiano property at a cost of $750 to be applied to the purchase price in the event that the land is purchased during this period.

Plan Questionnaire
The superintendent explained that a questionnaire would be distributed to parents in the very near future to express their thoughts regarding the building program. Recently the Board of Education members appeared with the superintendent at a meeting of the Education Committee of the Women's Club of Saugerties to present and discuss building plans.

Resignations were received from Assistant Principal Lawrence M. Cahill who will retire at the end of the current year after 44 years of service to the Saugerties School system, and from Gerard J. Hawkins, mathematics, Junior High School, Paula H. Blush, elementary music and Edmund McMahon, librarian Junior High School all whom have served from one year. Mrs. Sylvia Kramer was granted a leave of absence for the school year 1967-68.

Upon the recommendation of the superintendent of schools, the Board of Education appointed Ernest O'Dell to teach fifth grade at the Main Street School, replacing Mrs. Marion Miller who is on a leave of absence, and Richard Curtis to teach in elementary schools during the 1967-68 school year.

O'Dell, a graduate of Kingston High School, holds a bachelor of science degree from Nyack Missionary College and will receive a master of science degree from the State University College at New Paltz in June. O'Dell served as a student teacher in the Saugerties Central Schools from September to December of the current school year.

Was Student Teacher
Curtis is a graduate of Saugerties High School and will receive a bachelor of science degree from the State University College at New Paltz. He also has served as a student teacher in the Saugerties Central Schools from January to March of the current year.

Arrangements were completed for the annual school district meeting to be held in the high school auditorium on Washington Avenue Extension on Tuesday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. At that time school officials will explain the Board of Education's budget for the school year.

The following day at Main Street School, the polls will be open for the election of three members of the Board of Education for three-year terms. Current board members, Henry P. Breitenbach, Ann F. Karashay and Edwin E. Olson, have signed petitions to succeed themselves. At the time of this release no petitions had been received.

Dr. George G. Hamaty, principal of the senior high school, was present to explain plans for graduation. In order to accommodate a greater number of parents, relatives and friends than is possible in the auditorium, an outdoor commencement is planned. Details will be provided later.

Curbs Planned
Every attempt will be made to avoid and prevent vandalism and interclass feuding which has occurred in previous years. Students, parents and the community in general will be alerted and school property will be guarded. School authorities will take stringent action against persons involved. Last year several senior were not allowed to participate in graduation ceremonies.

Some of the unfortunate events have taken place off school property and persons other than students have been involved. Parents have sometimes been lead to believe that interclass rivalry is part of the graduation week activities. School authorities unequivocally state that they do not condone, and deplore this type of activity and urge parents to take every possible step to prevent pupils from participating.

Dr. Hamaty will inform the public through news releases and parents through letters of activities centering around graduation events. The Board of Education received an invitation from Norman Bolinder, president of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association to attend the next meeting of the P-TA on April 25, in the Saugerties High School cafeteria at 8 p. m. At that time Dr. Arnold will discuss the topic, "What the Future Holds for Education in Saugerties," Curriculum, Buildings, and Personnel." James Richards, industrial arts coordinator, will conduct a tour of the new print shop and explain course objectives.

• Bridge Partner's Slip Costly to Team

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The double of an artificial bid to ask for the lead of the suit is fine when you use it as you should. Here is a hand from a match between England and Italy in which this bid should have bid was a game force and implied better spades than hearts. I don't know exactly what North's four club bid was all about — probably some sort of mild slam try in case South had a really good hand. It did give the British East a chance to double to ask for a club lead. This wasn't a silly double. It was a really constructive bid.

Unfortunately for England, West looked at his own three clubs to the jack and four diamonds to the king-queen and decided to ignore his partner's request. West opened the king of diamonds and declarer had time to park his losing club on a diamond and make his vulnerable game.

The British North also opened one club. South made the normal one spade response. North tried one no-trump. South two hearts and North four hearts. The Italian West had no club double to guide him but came up with the lead of the deuce of diamonds. The nine was played from dummy. East put up the ten and was delightfully surprised when it held. Then East shifted to the king of clubs and the British declarer did not make his game.

Thus, instead of a big gain, England wound up with a big loss.

The Pharos Lighthouse, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world, had guided seamen for about 1,500 years.

Describe Free Press Setbacks

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cause of freedom of information lost ground in the past year, a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors reported today.

An advance was made on "the bureaucrats," said ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee, but the gain was more than offset by losses in free press-fair trial controversy.

Listed in Report

The setbacks, described in a report addressed to the more than 500 newspaper editors opening ASNE's annual meeting today, were summarized in these terms by the committee headed by J. Edward Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, Phoenix:

"These (losses) resulted from actions by the Supreme Court and the American Bar Association which, intentionally or not, scared a lot of policemen, prosecutors, defense counsel and especially judges into suppressing legitimate news of the criminal process." One of the major developments, said the committee, was the Supreme Court's ruling that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had been denied a fair trial because of prejudicial pretrial publicity. In a retrial, Sheppard won acquittal.

The other was the issuance of the report of the American Bar Association's Committee on Fair Trial and Free Press. The report recommends blocking newspaper access to some criminal case news and enforcing the restraints with the threat of contempt of court.

Prominent Speakers

The editors' convention will be addressed, before its adjournment Saturday night, by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Murray's committee offered these further comments on the past year's contacts between press and government:

"President Johnson continues to hurt his image and his credibility by consistently trying to make the news sound or seem better than it is."

"The war has escalated to the accompaniment of an almost unbroken succession of announcements that it was going in the opposite direction, or at least that something else was happening."

"Press relations (with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency) were generally satisfactory until the Jan. 27 Apollo tragedy in which three astronauts lost their lives."

Long Delay

NASA's information channels were not equal to the Apollo emergency, the report said. No official word came until 1 hour and 20 minutes after the fire started, and "Although the agency knew within five minutes it took two hours to learn that all three astronauts were dead."

"NASA information not only was late and sparse, but some of it was deliberately misleading, some of it inaccurate."

"NASA said all three astronauts died in their couches, that all three apparently died instantaneously, and that there had been no communication at the time from the spacecraft — all false."

Mohawk Asks Me. - Chicago Route Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for Mohawk Airlines have asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to approve a route for the carrier between Portland, Maine, and Chicago.

The attorneys said in their briefs Wednesday that the expansion would provide New England with direct service to the Middle West by bypassing the airport congestion of Boston and New York City.

The proposed new route also would serve Keene, Manchester, Concord, and Lebanon, N.H., White River Junction, Vt., Burlington, Vt., Albany and Syracuse, N.Y., Cleveland, Ohio, and Detroit.

Loans for Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved loans totaling $37,500 to help plan low-rent public housing in two Upstate New York communities.

The loans, approved Wednesday are: — $30,000 to Cohoes, Albany County, for a 200-unit project. — $7,500 to Norwich, Chenango County, for a 50-unit develop-

Albany Press Releases Take On Decided Flavor of Spring

By JOHN K. IGLEHART
WESTON, Ill. (AP) — Tiny Weston, put on the map last year for a giant atom smasher, has become a battleground for civil rights advocates.

This is how things stand more than three months after the hamlet, 35 miles west of Chicago, was selected by the Atomic Energy Commission for the $375-million nuclear reactor.

To Draw 2,000
The facility, to have the power of 200 billion electron volts, is expected to bring 2,000 technicians and scientists into the village.

A village with some 400 residents, none Negro, Weston is surrounded by cornfields. Many of its prefabricated homes have been vacated by people who failed to make their mortgage payments.

Whatever its description, Sydnev Finley of Chicago, Midwest director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People believes Weston and its environs discriminate against Negroes.

"The facts speak for themselves," Finley said in an interview. "Negroes are being discriminated against in the western suburbs" of Chicago.

Finley has been impressing his opinion on state legislators in hopes that they will push for an open-occupancy law rather than face the possibility of losing the $375 million atom smasher.

Site Housing Law
"Yes, we're using the leverage that the Weston situation presents to get a state open-housing law," said Finley. "This is operating within the American framework. After all, this is our tax money too." AEC officials say it will be at least eight years before the smasher is in operation. The agency's appropriation for next year, including whatever money will be allocated for Weston, is still before Congress.

Very little housing of any kind is available in Weston and most people drawn to the federal project, either to work on its construction or after its completion, would probably have to live in surrounding towns.

Small communities like Aurora, Batavia, Geneva, St. Charles, West Chicago, Wheaton and Naperville are within easy driving range — 10 to 20 miles — of Weston. But these places have their problems too, Finley says.

Scores Collusion
"We contend there is wholesale collusion between the public officials and the real estate industry in Du Page and Kane counties to keep Negroes out," he said. "There are 381,000 residents of Du Page county and less than 600 of them are Negroes."

Soon after the selection of Weston as site of the atom smasher, a facility sought by 46 states, the village passed an open-housing ordinance. The ordinance was passed unanimously.

Arthur Theriault, village president, said the ordinance solved the problem as far as he was concerned. "We've done what we felt was necessary. There should be no questions now."

Many state legislators apparently share Theriault's opinion that if a local problem exists for Negroes seeking housing a local solution should be applied.

"In those areas where conditions are more stressful the communities can adopt an ordinance," said Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, Republican majority leader.

With Arrington, who holds immense power in the Illinois legislature, expressing this view the chances of passing an open-occupancy law appears dim.

Rep. William Pollack of Chicago, GOP majority leader in the House, said: "I don't think a bill will pass. I'm still opposed to the idea. The government shouldn't take away one of the few freedoms the people still have."

Legion to Join Pro-Vietnam Demonstration

Membership of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, voted Tuesday night to join the march in what is being promoted as the nation's largest demonstration supporting fighting men in Vietnam.

Following a report and discussion of the anti-Vietnam demonstration that took place in New York City last Saturday, Charles M. King, Americanism chairman of Kingston Post 150 reported on the action being taken by the American Legion to counteract their effort.

George Heppner, a past commander of Post 150, quoted from a recent Daily News article the pro-Vietnam demonstration being headed by Raymond Gimler, a New York City Fire Department captain and Legionnaire. The demonstration is scheduled for Saturday, May 13, starting at noon. The parade will form at 95th Street and Fifth Avenue and will proceed south along Fifth Avenue to 62nd Street. It will then proceed east to Third Avenue. A reviewing stand will be set up on 62nd Street.

Though the demonstration is sponsored by the American Legion, it will accept all individuals in its line of march who support our country's stand in Vietnam.

Parade Chairman Gimler stated that Col. James E. Irving, the Mayor's parade coordinator, will organize the march. Invitations are being extended to the governors of all neighboring states as well as to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to attend and join Mayor John V. Lindsay in the reviewing stand.

The local effort sponsored by Post 150 will be under the direction of King and Heppner. Bus transportation will be available. All citizens desiring to participate in the demonstration are urged to contact either of them or Commander Robert Delaney at the earliest possible date for reservations.

Civil Rights Advocates Invade Weston, Site of Nuclear Plant

By WILLIAM S. STEVENS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — On Capitol Hill you don't really need a calendar to tell when spring has arrived. The press releases take on a decided "spring-fever" flavor.

As an example, the Conservation Department announced, under a release entitled "Singing Woodcock" that "this is the courtship season for game birds."

Turkeys, Grouse, Etc.
It went on to say that "the drumming of the grouse and the gobbling of the turkey are well known" but that the "woodcock has not received the attention of the two aforementioned birds."

Most people would find it difficult to quarrel with that assessment of the situation.

On the same day Gov. Rockefeller's office announced a "broad expansion of the New York State Commerce Department's small business assistance program."

That, in itself, is not startling, but accompanying the English-language release was the complete text written in Spanish, along with a brochure, outlining the program, also in Spanish.

Desired Effect
The Spanish had the desired effect on the Capitol press corps.

Most newsmen struggled valiantly through the foreign-language release, checking their translation frequently against the English-language copy.

"After all, how many times during a year does the governor of the state of New York announce a program of assistance to small business by the Department of Commerce?"

Which, if high-school Spanish—and the governor's office translation—stands up, means "announced today a broad expansion of the program of assistance to small business by the Department of Commerce."

An aide in the governor's press office kept a straight face as he assured reporters that the copy of the release in Spanish was intended for the use of newsmen working for Spanish-language newspapers.

Jane Not Worried

SINGAPORE (AP) — "I could not care less about the passing of time or aging," says actress Jane Russell.

"I do look back sometimes," said Miss Russell 45 on her arrival Wednesday with her singing trio. "I look forward too."

Talking about her impending divorce from her husband of 24 years, Robert Waterfield, she said, "If a married couple cannot be happy together, they should seek divorce. You can say we are not happy anymore."

She told reporters "of course" she would marry again.

touch from the Conservation Department and Rockefeller's office helped to brighten a rather rainy and dreary week.

Given free rein, one can almost imagine the attention-getting devices the state's public relations officers might take.

Following are just a couple of completely fictional conversations between the press officers and their bosses that might ensue. The reader is left to determine which department might employ the device.

"Save press officer. I haven't been in the news in quite some time. What can you dream up?" says the department head.

"Well sir, since spring is the season the roads break up and we want drivers to be careful, why not conduct an interview with you while driving 50 miles an hour and hitting small rats."

You know, we could have the release make you stutter from the vibration — something like 'tittts vvverrv d-d-d-ang-ee-ous t-tooo dd-drive t-tooo ff-ast.'"

Or: "Press officer, I'd like to point out that now is a nice time to see the countryside before all the leaves block the view. How can I get my point across?"

"I've got it chief, let's head the release with some lines from Chaucer—the news guys like that culture stuff. You know, something like: 'When that April with it's shoures suite, the drought of Marche hast pierced to the roote.'"

We're planning to move New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck and 10 other towns all closer to you.

Kingston Telephone Manager, Bill Pearson, discusses your future local calling area.

We want to move these towns plus Highland, Kerhonkson, Hyde Park, Staatsburg, Milton, Stanfordville, Clintondale, Pleasant Valley, Clinton Corners and Millbrook into Kingston's local calling area in late 1969. It's all part of a plan we've developed for the whole mid-Hudson region. Under the plan, you won't pay a toll charge when you make calls to these towns. And you'll be able to talk as often and as long as you want without running up your phone bill. This would mean that at the end of 1969 you would be able to reach nearly three times as many phones without paying toll charges. Your phone rates would be increased in line with the statewide schedule as this new expanded coverage goes into effect. Residence rates for rural and four-party customers would be increased by $1.00 a month. Private-line rates by $1.10. If you have any questions about the local calling area in your future, call your telephone Business Office.* We'll be glad to help you.

Rites on the Rhine

Gathering to Be Largest Since Funeral for JFK

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's capital beside the Rhine becomes the temporary capital of the Western world next week when President Johnson and other government leaders assemble for the funeral of Konrad Adenauer.

State Service Tuesday
French President Charles de Gaulle, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other top men of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will also attend the state services Tuesday in Cologne's Roman Catholic Cathedral for the 91-year-old ex-chancellor who rebuilt West Germany from the depths of wartime defeat.

It will be the largest gathering of Eastern government heads since the funeral for President John F. Kennedy in November 1963.

The White House announcement that Johnson would fly to Germany for the funeral made no mention of the President extending his trip to other European areas. The general feeling in Washington was that this was unlikely.

It will be Johnson's first visit to Europe since he became President, and there was speculation in Bonn that the gathering of Western leaders would give the U.S. President the opportunity for talks with east German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and De Gaulle on major issues between their governments and Washington.

But the belief in Washington was that a state funeral was not a suitable occasion for such discussions and that Johnson's contacts with the foreign leaders would be of a more casual nature, such as those he had in Washington with the statesmen who attended Kennedy's funeral.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who worked closely with Adenauer as the North Atlantic alliance's military commander in Europe and as president, will not attend the funeral. His secretary said doctor's orders prevented the 76-year-old former president from making the trip.

After the state funeral, Adenauer will be buried at a private family service in the Rhodorf village cemetery in the Rhine River Hills not far from his home where he died in his sleep Wednesday.

In the wooded plot are the graves of his parents, an uncle, his two wives and a son who died when he was five days old. Adorning the simple graves are blue and yellow daisies and red, white and yellow primroses.

Two Days in State
Adenauer had planted roses.

his favorite flower, but they did not flourish under the trees. Solemnities begin Saturday morning when West German Border Guardsmen bring Adenauer's body from his home to the big Cabinet meeting room at the Palais Schaumburg in Bonn. It was a trip he made daily for 14 years as chancellor.

The body will lie in state Saturday and Sunday. On Monday it will be taken another 20 miles along the river to Cologne where he was born and was mayor for 16 years, until the Nazis ousted him from office. There it will lie in the Cologne Cathedral.

On Tuesday morning, West German President Heinrich Lübke will preside over an official ceremony in the Parliament building in Bonn. A pontifical Requiem Mass will be celebrated in the cathedral that afternoon by a high Roman Catholic prelate.

A West German naval craft will then take the body back up the Rhine to the cemetery.

West Germany is in mourning today with flags throughout the nation at half staff. All political parties canceled the balance of their campaigns for state elections Sunday in Schleswig-Holstein and Rhineland-Palatinate.

Showdown on Apport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate in "a matter of weeks" will face a showdown on the controversial subject of legislative reapportionment, predicts Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen told newsmen Wednesday he expects two more states to submit soon petitions calling for a constitutional convention to consider whether states should be allowed to apportion one legislative house on a basis other than population.

That would bring to 34 — the by the Constitution — the number of states petitioning for the convention in the aftermath of the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" edict. It required all legislative bodies to follow strict population guidelines for districting.

In a two-hour floor debate, Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said Congress should not consider calling a convention until at least five more states petition. He warned that such a convention could involve other moves to change the Constitution.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed its way into the sixth straight session of advance early Thursday. Trading was active.

The market drove once again toward the recovery high of March 23 in the Dow Jones industrial average but made meager progress.

Wednesday the list backed away after coming within a fraction of matching the high, 876.67.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a comfortable margin and there was an assortment of sizable early blocks, most of them traded at slightly higher prices.

Steels were mixed and motors showed scarcely any change.

Gains of about a point were made by Du Pont, Rohm Corp., Douglas Aircraft and Alcoa.

American Telephone was off about a point in further reaction to word from the company that its rate of gain in earnings will be somewhat lower than last year's.

Down about a point were Magnavox, Pennsylvania Railroad and Texaco.

Eastern Air Lines lost about 2 points. Most other airlines were fractional losers.

General Motors opened on 5-5/8 shares, off 1/8 at 80 1/2; Thiokol on 12-7/8 shares, up 1/8 at 25; Montgomery Ward on 11-1/8 shares, up 1/8 at 24 1/2; American Cynamid, up 1/8 at 32 1/2; and General Electric, up 1/8 at 91 1/2.

Opening blocks included: Victor Comptometer, up 1/8 at 60 1/2 on 15,000 shares; U.S. Steel, up 1/8 at 47; and American Telephone, off 1/8 at 59 1/2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher, with most changes small.

Says AT&T Will Surpass Economy In Rapid Growth

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Although its rate of growth this year is not expected to match that of 1966, American Telephone & Telegraph will continue to grow faster than the economy, says H. I. Romnes, chairman of the AT&T board.

Romnes told the corporation's 82nd annual stockholders meeting Wednesday that the system will continue to grow "faster than the economy as a whole."

He termed last year's growth as phenomenal.

He told the 4,800 stockholders that customers of the Bell System can expect a reduction in interstate rates. The Bell System operates 85 per cent of the nation's telephones.

"I don't think there will be any major impact, but some reassignment on intrastate rates," he added.

The Federal Communications Commission has finished hearings on what rates AT&T should receive on its capital investment.

Romnes said he hoped the rate would be between 7 1/2 and 8 1/2 per cent.

Romnes anticipated that 3.5 million telephones would be added to the Bell System this year. He said long distance conversations grew by 9 per cent last year, which he called a "very healthy, strong rate of growth."

The 1966 earnings per share, made public in the annual report, were $2.69, compared with $3.41 in 1965. Dividends were raised from 50 to 55 cents.

Firm Submits Lowest Bid for Prison Project

Burch McMorran, superintendent of Public Works, the location of projects, description of work, apparent low bidders, low bid, and number of bids in Wallkill for electrical work for replacement of switchgear, transformers, feeder cables, and standby electric service, Buildings 121 and 123, Wallkill Prison. Gottlieb Contractors Inc. of Jamaica produced the lowest bid of $104,874.

Met Summer Home

BOSTON (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera Co. intends to make its summer home in New Port, R.I., as part of a music festival.

Rudolf Bing, Metropolitan Opera general manager, said Wednesday, "We hope the festival will be a permanent one. We are not going into this as a one-time shot. We are going all out — bringing some of our top stars."

Bing revealed plans for a 10-day festival beginning Aug. 17. He told a news conference in Boston that $50,000 has been pledged by the State of Rhode Island and $75,000 raised by a citizens group.

Last week, prosecution medical experts testified they were able "with reasonable scientific certainty" to trace the presence of the drug in Carmela's exhumed body.

The drug previously was thought to be undetectable in the body after death.

Smith testified he had recently researched the distribution and measurement of succinylcholine by injecting rats intramuscularly with the drug. He said the measurements were taken on a gas flow beta counter.

Will Cut Down Chapel Sessions At Daily News

NEW YORK (AP) — A union official says the printers at the Daily News, who have been stooping work and holding union meetings three times a day, will now hold meetings "only when it is indicated they are necessary."

The statement was made late Wednesday night by David Crockett, vice president of the printers' Local 6.

Explains Tactics

Early today, during a recess in a union chapel (unit) meeting, Crockett gave newsmen this explanation of the change in tactics:

"The men are getting tired of these regular times and would prefer meetings called when it is more convenient for them and the union."

He said meetings, which have halted all work in the composing room, would be held "when news of importance" was to be delivered to members of the union's chapel at the Daily News.

The Daily News did not comment on Crockett's announcement.

The last "timetable" meeting from midnight to 4 a. m. today was the 61st since contracts between five major newspapers in the city and 10 unions expired at midnight March 30.

Kept Posted

Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6, has said the meetings—once during each of daily seven-hour shifts—were held to keep the printers posted on the course of contract negotiations. The printers, however, idled away their time during recesses which consumed most of the meeting time.

The work stoppages cut into the revenue of the Daily News by reducing the man-hours available for setting type for advertisements. They also curtailed the amount of changes that could be made in the paper from edition to edition to keep up with news developments.

Officials of the Daily News have called the stoppages illegal, but they have not taken any disciplinary action. The printers have been paid for the hours they did not work.

Chief Impediment

Powers has said that a major reason why his union was concentrating its pressure on the Daily News was that the paper was a "chief impediment" in the newspaper industry negotiations.

Officials of the Daily News have denied this.

In addition to the Daily News, the newspapers negotiating with

Revised Prize Schedule

Odds Improved For Cashing in On N.Y. Lottery

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The odds were improved today for cashing in on the state lottery because of a revised schedule that provides 240 prizes for each $1 million in tickets sold each month.

The new schedule, the third since the basic plan was approved by the Legislature, was outlined Wednesday by State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy.

For each $1 million worth of tickets sold, 20 prize drawings will be held. One drawing will be for 15 "grand" prizes and another for 225 "consolation" prizes.

Here is how the "grand" prizes are broken down:

- One $100,000 winner.
- One $50,000 winner.
- One $25,000 winner.
- One $10,000 winner.
- Eleven $5,000 winners.

Consolation Prizes

Murphy said the "consolation" prizes will be:

- Fifteen at $1,000.
- Fifteen at $700.
- Fifteen at $400.
- Fifteen at $250.
- And 165 winners at $150 each.

The commissioner said that a proportionate number of tickets will be selected for sales in excess of even multiples of $1 million. All tickets initially would have the same chance of winning the top prize.

Murphy explained that at the end of the ticket sales for each monthly drawing, all tickets will be brought here and be divided into lots of 500,000 each and drawn in separate drums.

From each drum, 120 prize-winning tickets will be drawn.

These tickets will be placed in a winners drum, from which 15 grand prize winners will be drawn and assigned, in sequence, to post positions for the horse race by which winners will be determined.

After the drawing is completed for the "grand" prizes, the same procedure will be followed for the "consolation" prizes.

Next 12 slips of paper representing a race run at a specified time at a track in New York State will be placed in a "race bowl." One of these slips will be drawn and that will be the race to determine the order of winners.

Then after the race has been run, the post positions of the winning horses will be matched with the previously decided post positions of the winning tickets in each the "grand" and "consolation" prize drawings.

The persons who hold winning tickets will be notified by telegram Murphy said.

The $1 tickets will go on sale sometime in June and the first drawing is scheduled for late July.

Backers Admit Uphill Fight To Seat Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proponents of seating Adam Clayton Powell admit they'll face an uphill fight if the controversial Harlem Democrat comes to claim the seat to which he was overwhelmingly re-elected last week.

Although any new showdown in the 3-month-old wrangle will not come before next week at the earliest, 11 liberal Democrats made public Wednesday a behind-the-scenes drive to seat Powell.

But their appeal to fellow House members "to resolve this matter in accord with the spirit and the letter of the Constitution" was coupled with an admission that few votes have switched since the House voted March 1 to exclude the flamboyant preacher-politician.

"It appears that a majority of the House is prepared to exclude once again," they said.

To Seek County Legislator Job In District 2

Incumbent Supervisor Addison Jones of the Second Ward has announced he will enter his name in the Republican Primary for County Legislator, District 2 (Wards 1, 2, 10).

Jones, who recently was elevated to the first vice presidency of the New York State Bowling Association, was the successful Republican candidate in the November 1965 race for supervisor of the Second Ward.

A Kingston businessman for more than 40 years, Jones was founder and formerly operated Jones Dairy in Kingston.

An avid sports figure as well, Jones has been identified with the sport of bowling since the advent of organized bowling in Kingston. He has often been referred to as "Mr. Bowling" for his great interest in the sport.

Delegate to ABC

Jones served from 1943 to 1947 as president of the Kingston

ADDISON JONES

Bowling Association and is currently a life member of that organization. During the recent bowling conab in Syracuse when he was elevated to first vice president of the NYSBA, Jones also was named the state association delegate to the American Bowling Congress currently convening at Miami Beach, Fla.

In addition to his many affiliations with the sporting world, Jones has been prominently identified with several civic-minded operations including the Kingston Boys Club, YMCA, Benedictine Hospital fund drive, co-chairman of the 1965 Cerebral Palsy campaign and for many years with the March of Dimes.

In Ward 40 Years

Jones, who is a member of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, resides with his wife at 334 Foxhall Avenue. They have been residents of the Second Ward for more than 40 years. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Harry Wilber and Mrs. Kenneth Hespner and two sons, Robert and Ronald.

Conclude Hearings On Minutemen Probe

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — The last of four hearings to determine the activity of Minutemen in New York State is over, with no indication whether the matter is closed or whether additional hearings will be held.

A day-long, closed-door hearing here Wednesday capped an investigation that began several months ago after 19 men were arrested in the New York City area. They were arrested in an alleged attempt to destroy several camps said to be conducted by left-wing organizations.

The Minutemen is the name of a right-wing group.

Alan Smiley, assistant state attorney general in charge of Wednesday's hearing, declined to answer questions put to him by newsmen.

When Smiley saw two witnesses talking to newsmen, he reminded them that they were under oath not to divulge any information. Over all, four witnesses did speak to reporters, and it was learned that three who testified were from the Adirondack area and three were from the Utica area.

Hearings already had been held in New York City, Syracuse and Albany.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Long before Sigmund Freud (1856-1939), the 17th-century Huron Indians of southern Ontario began treating illness by dream interpretation. According to The World Almanac, the Hurons believed that misfortune or illness often stemmed from a person's unfulfilled desires. These desires were revealed in dreams. An unhappy or sick man could be cured if, for example, his dream for a new canoe were satisfied.

Leaflets Ask 30 PC Package In UAW Contract

DETROIT (AP) — At least one United Auto Workers faction is demanding a wage and fringe benefits gain of 30 per cent over the next three years as part of the union's 1967 contract goals.

The 30 per cent "package" was proposed in leaflets handed 3,000 union delegates meeting today. The leaflets outlined a four-point program and bore the names of 10 local union presidents and at least one member each from eight other locals.

There was little doubt that delegates would shut aside the four-point program as such in favor of a broader more flexible approach proposed by UAW President Walter P. Reuther who says any new contract must carry a guaranteed annual income.

The four-point program proposes optional retirement at full pension after 30 years service, regardless of age; company-paid group auto insurance; a 35- or 37½-hour work week; with whatever money is left from 30 per cent going into wage increases.

Robert Weissman, president of a 3,600-member local at Twinsburg, Ohio, calculated the four-point program which he supports should provide a wage increase of at least 5 per cent a year, after the other three demands are met.

Defense Dept. Kills 'Big Brother' Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has killed a Navy "big brother" directive. It was learned today.

The directive advised civilian employees to seek "wise and mature counsel" before linking up with persons or organizations of a political or civic nature.

A Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee became interested in the directive weeks ago and raised questions about it.

The document was issued under the Navy's security program and was headed "suggested counsel to employees."

Annual CYO Coronation Ball Is Held

The Ulster County Catholic Youth Organization, composed of Teen Clubs in the various parishes, annually holds a Coronation Ball at which candidates compete for the crowns of King and Queen. At the recent Coronation Ball, attended by many of the County members as well as CYO members from New York City, Westchester and Staten Island, candidates from several parishes, nominated in advance by the Adult Advisers and Moderators, were interviewed by a panel of judges. Winners for 1967 were Miss Mary Dolan and Vincent Voerg.

Members of the Teen Clubs, CYO, must be high school students. These groups actively participate in church and civic affairs, and enjoy spiritual and social benefits. Their activities include Teenage Mission, Bible Vigils, Communion Suppers, visiting patients at area nursing homes, rolling bandages, saving and sending stamps to foreign missions, dances, socials, working with the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children, and generally making themselves useful and helpful where and when they have the opportunity. Many of the members also participate in religion, oratorical, essay and poetry contests. They also participate in the Archdiocesan CYO Convention held annually, and attend leadership training meetings and work-shops at the CYO Leadership Training Center in Putnam Valley. Another important activity is that they have fostered a Brotherhood Movement with teenagers of other faiths.

Miss Dolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Dolan, was the candidate from St. Joseph's, Kingston. She is a junior at John A. Coleman Catholic High School. Mary is vice president of St. Joseph's CYO and secretary of the Ulster County Council of CYO. She has served on various committees in her parish group and on the County Council. Last October, she represented the Diocese at a Farm-City conference for youth held in Cooperstown. In November, Mary received the Cardinal Spellman Youth Award "for outstanding qualities of leadership, good character and service to the CYO."

Vincent Voerg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Voerg, Saugerties, is a senior at Saugerties High School. He is a past-president of CYO, St. Mary of the Snow, and is editor of his Club's prize-winning newspaper "Federation Findings." He also has served on several committees in his parish group and on the county level.

The newly crowned King and Queen were the recipients of many gifts which were presented through the generosity of the merchants in Kingston and Saugerties.

Jensen in Honorary Society

Elizabeth Jensen, a senior at Syracuse University, has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society. ## Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST of the Emily Post Institute
Superstition Says Gift of Knife Might Cut Friendship

Dear Mrs. Post: At a bridal shower, my gift to the bride-to-be was a set of steak knives. A few of the guests quietly suggested that I include a coin - as part of the gift. They said it is customary, when giving an item with a sharp edge, to give a coin along with it. Someone else said it was correct for the recipient to give me the coin. Which is proper, and what hidden meaning does this have? - Mrs. Kaye.

Dear Mrs. Kaye: The old idea was that the gift of a knife might "cut" a friendship. If the recipient "paid" for the gift with a token penny, the curse was lifted. The old superstition has been almost forgotten today, but if anyone offers you a penny when you give her a knife, take it, so she can accept the gift without worry.

Bathtub Not for Laundry

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a discussion we had at our bridge club? One of the ladies claims that when you use a guest towel, you should put it in the bathtub. She says it is the proper way. I disagree. There are eight of us, and if we all did this, it would look pretty messy as you enter the bathroom. - Grace.

Dear Grace: I agree with you. Why don't the other seven ladies in your club get together and buy a small, inexpensive laundry hamper for your friend? The tub may then be kept for its original purpose—taking a bath.

Informal Dress for Junior Prom

Dear Mrs. Post: My high school junior prom will be held in the school's gymnasium. We were informed that dress for this occasion will be informal, and I would like to know what the proper attire would be for me and my escort—Ellen.

Dear Ellen: In some communities "informal" means that the boys do not need to wear tuxedos, but the girls may wear long dresses if they wish. You would be wise to check with the dance committee or your classmates. More generally it means that the girls wear short dresses. Choose a gay sleeveless wool or silk for this time of year. Your escort may wear a blazer, a sports jacket, or a suit.

Pronouncing a Blessing

Mrs. Mel Kelman of Hillside Terrace, Kingston, in the picture at right observes while her sister Mrs. George Small lights the Passover candles, a ritual reserved for the Jewish housewife. Mrs. Small also recites a traditional blessing.

THE CUP OF ELIJAH is filled for the Passover dinner and left in the center of the table. A wine cup is beside each place setting also and used for the four sips of wine—symbols of joy.

SPECIAL PASSOVER TRAY, usually a very decorative piece as pictured here, contains symbols of the holiday: roasted shankbone, hard boiled egg, bitter herbs, mixture of chopped apples, nuts and cinnamon, and parsley or celery.

THE SEDER TABLE is decorated with fruits, best china, candles and other marks of festivity. The father rests against a pillow to signify a feeling of leisure. At the dinner, various pancakes and puddings made with unleavened ingredients are eaten.

Housewife Prepares For Passover Days

By
DOROTHY A. NAREL

"Remember, you were slaves in Egypt," the Torah says repeatedly, and on Monday, April 24, the Jewish community will recall these words as they observe the first of eight days of Passover (Pesach).

With the cooperation of Mrs. Robert Ronder, president of Ulster County's Tri Sisterhood groups representing Temple Emanuel, Ahavath Israel and Agudas Achim, we visited the home of Mrs. George Small at 98 Southfield Street, Kingston, and watched as she prepared her kitchen and table for the high holidays. And what a busy time it is for the Jewish housewife!

While Jewish tradition makes few formal ritual demands on the woman in synagogue life, she is responsible for creating an atmosphere of reverence in the home, proclaiming a blessing over the candles on the eve of each Sabbath, and preparing her home for each holiday. Most important of all, she is counselor to her family and a saying in the Talmud places great weight upon her wisdom for it is written: "No matter how short your wife is, lean down and take her advice."

Passover, the outstanding festive holiday commemorating Israel's deliverance from the Egyptian bondage, is also called: Feast of Unleavened Bread and Season of Our Freedom.

In preparation for the holiday, the Jewish housewife gives her home a thorough spring cleaning, a chore made somewhat easier with today's modern appliances. Her cooking tasks are a little less difficult also because she can use her home freezer to prepare dishes in advance and a variety of Passover foods may be purchased in most up to date supermarkets.

After the housework is done, including a complete change of dishes to be used during the eight-day holiday, the housewife concentrates on setting the Seder table and preparing the foods. All leavened bread is removed from the house and only "matzoth," unleavened bread is used. Various pancakes and puddings are made with the unleavened bread and many of the recipes are repeated these days in non-Jewish homes because they are tasty.

The Seder table will include a special tray with the following food items: roasted bone, remembrance of the sacrificial lamb offered by the Israelites; hard boiled egg, symbol of life; bitter herbs or horseradish as a reminder of the bitterness of the bondage in Egypt; celery or parsley which suggests the first green of spring; salt water, symbolic of tears shed; and a mixture of chopped apples and nuts, cinnamon and wine, suggesting the mortar used by the Hebrew slaves in building cities for their captors.

An attractive wine goblet is placed on the table as an extra cup. It is the "Cup of Elijah." According to legend, the prophet Elijah may unexpectedly arrive to drink from that cup.

After the special services conducted by the father, the family settles down to traditional dinner. It might include wine for Kiddush; whitefish and pike with horseradish; chicken soup with matzo balls; turkey with celery stuffing; honeyed sweet potatoes; asparagus, cranberry cabbage relish; potato latkes; sponge cake and strudel.

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker Fruit, Vegetable Buys Are Explored

The spring season brings produce from nearby growing areas. Thrifty shoppers may take advantage of foods when they are most plentiful, by using them often and canning or freezing them, says Louise M. Kakargo, extension home economist. Each month brings something special from some parts of the country. Varieties and sources of supply vary, but every season has its abundance. Springtime heralds greater supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables from many producing areas at reduced prices.

Supplies of most vegetables during the coming months are expected to be larger than a year ago. However, some tender vegetables like tomatoes were damaged by low temperatures. Because of larger acreage such vegetables as celery, lettuce, snap beans, carrots, sweet corn and green peppers, supplies will be more abundant than a year ago. Supplies of tomatoes are expected to be moderately smaller than a year ago.

Potatoes. Winter production of potatoes is 8 per cent less than a year ago. Storage stocks of Western potatoes are 1 per cent below record high holdings last year and the New York State storage stocks of Eastern potatoes are 15 to 20 per cent more than a year ago. Prices, generally, are higher than a year ago for all varieties of potatoes. California white potatoes will start coming to market around mid-April, in large volume, and this should ease the supply and price situation. California supplies about two-thirds of the early spring potato crop.

Onions. Welcome news for homemakers—abundant supplies of green onions or scallions will be coming to markets in April. Raw or cooked onions are popular with consumers. We eat them at the rate of about 15 pounds per person annually. Also, the early spring onion crop from Texas is more than double the short crop in 1966. This spring's increase in supply should bring about lower prices for onions.

Asparagus. Heavy supplies of asparagus should be coming to market during April from California. New Jersey asparagus harvest will start in late April. Supplies from New Jersey will be slightly less than last year. Asparagus prices have been coming down as volume of production increases. The thick spears usually bring the premium price.

Shoppers can look for increased supplies of fresh fruits and satisfy family appetites with a variety of fruits.

Avocados. Supplies of avocados from California are seasonably abundant this year. Weather has improved the size of this fruit and shoppers will see more medium and larger sized avocados in April. The avocado is one of the fruits which is picked when it is mature, though too firm to be good eating. At the markets, shoppers will find some avocados that are soft—ready-to-eat; others are firm ripe and need from one to three days to ripen at room temperature of 60-70 degrees. Once peeled, avocados darken quickly. Fresh lemon juice prevents discoloration and accents the delicate nut-like flavor.

Rhubarb. Fresh, rosy rhubarb is not at its seasonal peak until May but increased supplies come to market in April and prices decline. Rhubarb of good quality is fresh, firm, and crisp. The stalks should be thick and fairly well-colored. Wash, cut, but do not peel rhubarb before cooking. Make your favorite sauce or a delicious pie.

Bananas. April supplies of bananas reach their peak production and many markets are featuring bananas. However, the supply is fairly uniform all the year round. Bananas top the list of imported fresh fruits to the United States. Most bananas are now packed in boxes which contain the entire bunch. In 1961 only 15 per cent were boxed but by 1966 virtually all imports of bananas were boxed. Bananas shipped to the United States are usually shipped at the three-quarter maturity stage.

Pineapple. Juicy, fresh pineapple arrives at our markets in good supply during the spring months and most of our supply comes from Puerto Rico. Pineapples are harvested and shipped before they are completely ripe. You may need to let the fruit stay at room temperature for 2 to 4 days to finish ripening.

Look for pineapples that are: Fresh, clean, and heavy for their size—to assure good quality.

Hollow-eyed—to assure a sweet flavor.

UTERINE FIBROIDS DO NOT ALWAYS REQUIRE REMOVAL

Q—What symptoms are caused by fibroids? Is it necessary to have them removed? Is the usual procedure a hysterectomy?

A—Uterine fibroid causes no symptoms unless it becomes so large that it causes pressure on the bladder or rectum and thereby irritates these organs. In women of childbearing age a large fibroid may interfere with conception. If pregnancy occurs, it may cause premature delivery or it may necessitate a Caesarean section.

Surgeons are not as likely to advise removal of fibroids as they used to be. Even a fibroid as large as a grapefruit need not be removed unless it causes uterine bleeding or pressure symptoms. Most fibroids stop growing and some actually shrink after the menopause. When a fibroid does have to be removed, the entire uterus is removed. This is a hysterectomy.

Q—What causes uterine fibroids? Do they become cancerous?

A—The cause of these tumors is not known but, whatever it is, it affects about 20 per cent of all women who are over 35. Fibroids are benign tumors and do not become malignant.

Q—Following an operation for what was thought to be a cancer, the pathologist's report indicated that the growth was not malignant but idiopathic retroperitoneal fibrosis. What is the cause and what is the treatment?

A—Idiopathic means of unknown cause. In this uncommon disease a fibrous mass forms in the retroperitoneal tissues—the tissues in back of the rear wall of the abdomen and pelvis. The mass may obstruct the ureters leading from the kidneys to the bladder. The treatment includes surgical repair to free the ureters, deep X-ray therapy to shrink the fibrous mass and hydrocortisone to relieve any accompanying inflammatory reaction.

Q—What is ascariasis? Is there any cure?

A—This is an infestation with roundworms. The new drug, thiabendazole (Mintezol) is very effective against this and many other worm infestations. It can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

Q—Is an operation for gallstones necessary or can they be dissolved?

A—There is no way to dissolve your gallstones. If they are causing typical attacks of gallstone colic your gall bladder should be removed.

Ford Jumps for Joy After 45th Shutout

By HAL ROCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There was an old combination back at work in the American League standings today.

The New York Yankees were in first place again, put there on a shutout by slick Whitey Ford. It's been 2½ years — if you don't count opening day when nobody else played — since the Yankees had nine teams below them.

Last season, when they finished 10th, the Yankees never made it over the 500 mark and Ford, plagued with a circulatory problem in his left shoulder, managed just two victories.

But he was the oldtime Whitey against the Chicago White Sox Wednesday, allowing just seven singles for a 3-0 victory. It was his 45th career shutout and his first since Aug. 5, 1965, when the victims were, ironically, the White Sox and Wednesday's loser, Tommy John.

When he retired the last man, Ford, attempting a comeback after his second shoulder operation, jumped off the mound in joy. It was like those pictures of pitchers who've just won World Series games. You remember World Series games. Ford used to work in them in the good old days.

Chance Beats Orioles

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, rookie Rod Carew drove in the winning run with a ninth-inning single as Minnesota and Dean Chance defeated Baltimore 3-2. Three home runs powered Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over Kansas City. Washington's doubleheader at Boston was rained out.

Ford was delighted with his performance. "It's been a long time hasn't it?" he said, grinning.

The ace left-hander, who ran into Boston rookie Bill Rohr's one-hitter in his first start this season, said he was bothered somewhat by Chicago's 49 degree temperature.

"My fingers began to feel the cold after six innings and I couldn't use my breaking stuff. I went mostly to the fast ball and the slider."

The Yankees picked up a run off John in the second on Charley Smith's single, two walks and a sacrifice fly by John Kennedy. Smith's sacrifice fly and a single by Joe Pepitone drove in two more in the third following an error by Chicago's Tom McCraw.

Fans 10 Batters

The Twins knocked off the Orioles with a strong pitching performance by Chance, who allowed just five hits and struck out 10.

Carew, a rookie second baseman, broke the game up with a one-out, bases-loaded single against Stu Miller in the ninth. The hit scored Ted Uhlaender, running for Harmon Killebrew, who had opened the inning with a single. Killebrew also hit his

Sawyers Rout Farley In Track Meet, 90-45

Saugerties High school trackmen showed exceptional strength in the field events in crushing Cardinal Farley, 90-45, in a dual meet at the Sawyer cinders on Wednesday.

Coch Coach Buddy Smith's runners swept the long jump, triple jump and pole vault. Roy O'Rourke was the lone CF athlete to stem the tide, winning the 120 and 880 hurdles and running a leg in the 880 relay.

The summaries:
120 high hurdles — 1. Roy O'Rourke (CF); 2. Clapper (S). Time: 16.5 seconds.
180 low hurdles — 1. Roy O'Rourke (CF); 2. Warnes (S); 3. Clapper (S). Time: 22 seconds.
100 yards — 1. John Warnes (S); 2. Whitaker (S); 3. Valentino (CF). Time: 11.3 seconds.

first homer of the year earlier in the game.

Max Alvis, Duke Sims and Chuck Hinton all hit home runs for the Indians against Kansas City and Sonny Siebert, with late-inning help from Bob Allen, picked up his first victory.

Ken Suarez, Kansas City's catcher, homered for the A's, threw out three runners trying to steal and picked another off base.

Series of Walks Brings Disaster

A five run rally by Roosevelt High and too many sore arms added up to a 6-4 baseball disaster for Kingston High Wednesday at Dietz Stadium.

It was a cold, damp afternoon and Charlie Jones, the Maroon starter, was winging along on a 2-hitter and 4-1 lead. Then things began to happen with one out in the seventh — two outs from an impressive win.

Jones yielded a single to Bob Bartillo, Roosevelt catcher, then suddenly went wild to walk the next three hitters to force in a run.

All relief pitchers, Coach Mike Rizzo reported, had sore arms or were not in school except the starting pitcher for the next day. So Rizzo had to call on Greg Rios, who also has a sore arm.

Runs Forced In

Rios walked the first batter he faced for force in the second run and slice Kingston's lead to 4-3. Don Firman, Roosevelt left fielder, sliced a shot to left where Dan McGowan "lost" it permitting two runs to score and sending Roosevelt ahead, 5 to 4. The fifth run of the inning scored on a bleeder along the third base line by Bob Bartillo.

Singles by Bill Dugan, Pete Watzka and John Cater, a force play and bad throw from the outfield accounted for three Kingston runs in the second inning.

Charlie Lay doubled and Pete Watzka singled for Kingston's first run in the fourth. Bob Fleider shut the door the rest of the way, finishing with a 7-hitter and five strikeouts.

Jones was superb for 6 1/3 innings with nine strikeouts, then the sore arms and the rest.

Charlie Lay rapped a single and double for the Maroons and Pete Watzka stroked two singles.

State Publishes Booklet on Fish

A new, free booklet called "Fish and Fishing in New York" will soon be available to the public, State Conservation Commissioner R. Stewart Kilborne announced today.

"This colorful 40-page brochure will be of real value to all anglers," Commissioner Kilborne commented. "Along with full-color reproductions of fresh water and salt water game fish, it has plenty of helpful tips about likely places to catch them."

"Included in this handy booklet are both the Department's selection of the State's 50 best trout streams and a list of 300 remote Adirondack trout ponds stocked by airplane. More than 900 miles of public fishing streams are named and located, along with a complete list—by county—of most of the State's streams and lakes and the species of fish that can be taken in each, plus full color plates of fresh and salt water lures on which to take them," the Commissioner pointed out.

"Fish and Fishing in New York" is expected to be available for distribution within the next few weeks, so send your request to: Division of Conservation Education, State Conservation Department, State Campus, Albany, N. Y. 12226.

"There's sure to be a heavy demand for this new publication, so ardent anglers should get on the 'early bird' list... and be sure to include zip code numbers in return addresses," Commissioner Kilborne concluded.

Set 3 School Marks

Marlboro Trackmen Top OCS, 66½ - 54½

Marlboro Central trackmen set three new school records en route to a 66½-54½ victory over a rugged Kingston Central track squad Wednesday at Marlboro. It was the third straight win for the Dukes.

Three Dukes—Fred Monroe, Howie Baker and Richie Faulk—scored doubles. Baker captured the 100 yard dash and shotput and raised his own record in the shot from 45 feet 7½ inches to 47 feet 4½ inches.

Monroe took the 220 and 440 yard dashes and broke Richie Faulk's long jump record with a leap of 20 feet, 10½ inches. The Faulk mark was 20 feet, 6 inches.

Faulk captured the triple jump and 880. Lou Mazzella lowered his own Marlboro 180 yard hurdle mark from 23 seconds even to 22.5 seconds.

Monroe and Baker also participated in the winning 880 relay for Marlboro.

Aaron Blasts 2 Home Runs In Old Style

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Hank Aaron has a hard time breaking the old home run habit, he'll have no trouble keeping his new friends.

The Atlanta slugger, who led the National League with 44 home runs last year but dipped to a .279 batting mark — lowest in his career — blasted a pair of homers Wednesday night, powering the torrid Braves to a 4-1 victory over Houston.

"I'm going back to my old style of hitting, to get a better batting average," the .316 lifetime hitter said before signing a two-year contract last winter at $100,000 per-season. "I wasn't too concerned about batting for an average last year because I had made up my mind to lead the league in homers."

There's no better way of making friends when you move into new territory than hitting the ball over the fence," Aaron added, explaining he went for the long ball in 1966 to help boost fan interest during the Braves' first year at Atlanta.

Aaron didn't disappoint the Atlanta backers Wednesday night. He slammed a 405-foot, bases-empty drive over the center field fence in the first inning and hammered a 420-foot solo shot into the left field seats in the fourth.

Career Total 444
The 33-year-old outfielder's first two 1967 homers lifted his career total to 444, No. 10 on the all-time list, while sending his early-season batting average up to .321.

The homers also provided the winning margin as the Braves rolled to their fifth straight victory after an opening string of three losses.

St. Louis' streaking Cardinals overpowered San Francisco 7-5 for their sixth victory in six starts and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Cincinnati 3-2 on Don Hunt's run-scoring double in the 10th. The Pittsburgh Philadelphia game was rained out.

Dave Giusti, Houston's starter, gave up both Aaron homers and was touched for another run in the fourth when Mack Jones doubled, took third on an error and scored on a force-play grounder. A walk, Rico Carty's double and Mike de la Hoz' infield hit gave the Braves an insurance run in the eighth.

Hurts Four-Hitter
Winner Ken Johnson allowed only four hits before giving way to Ramon Hernandez in the seventh. Ed Mathews singled the Astros' run across in the sixth.

Tim McCarver hit a three-run homer and Julian Javier a two-run shot for the Cardinals, who pinned San Francisco ace Juan Marichal with his third loss in three starts.

Ken Henderson's second bases-empty homer of the night knocked out winner Larry Jaster in the eighth. Jesus Alou and Willie McCovey also homered for the Giants, who have lost six in a row.

Ron Hunt broke up the Dodgers-Reds duel with a run-scoring double in the tenth — his fourth hit in five trips. Gene Michael led off the 10th with a double and Hunt, who had scored the first two Los Angeles runs, delivered the winning hit one out later.

Tommy Harper homered for Cincinnati in the sixth and the Reds tied it in the seventh when Tommy Helms singled, stole second and raced home on John Edwards' single.

New Zealander Wins
McKenzie's Victory Stops Japan's Streak

BOSTON (AP) — Little Dave McKenzie of New Zealand was hailed as a giant killer and a top Olympic contender today after a record-smashing triumph over the Japanese in the 1st Boston A.A. Marathon.

The 5-foot-4, 120-pound McKenzie crushed Japanese hopes for a third straight BAA triumph, breezing to victory in 2 hours, 15 minutes and 45 seconds Wednesday.

McKenzie helped set a blistering pace for 18 miles and then pulled away as he headed in the first of three hills. Yutaka Aoki tried to make up ground on the third, known as Heartbreak Hill, and actually closed to within 30 yards.

However, McKenzie pulled away for his sixth straight marathon triumph, fourth since Jan. 28 and ninth in 11 over-all starts.

The bid for the lead took so much out of Aoki that Tom Laris, 26-year-old former Ivy League two-mile champion at Dartmouth, overtook him for second place in 2:16:84.

Aoki hung on for third in 2:17:17, while Louis Castagnola, a Washington electronics engineer, finished fourth in 2:17:48, and Italian champion Antonio Ambu took fifth in 2:18:04.

Through Sleet, Rain
McKenzie, a 24-year-old job printer who has won the New Zealand Championship the last two years, charged through driving sleet and rain to trim 48 seconds from the 26-mile, 385-yard course record set by Morio Shigematsu in leading a 1-2-3-5-6 Japanese finish in 1965. Japan swept the first four places with newcomers last year.

"It was very cold and my calf muscles got very stiff, but I was not overly tired at the finish," McKenzie said. "The hills didn't bother me. I just wanted to stay out in front."

"We didn't expect to be beaten," Aoki said. "We had heard of McKenzie, but we didn't realize how strong he was until we saw him run."

Tooru Terasawa, who helped the Japanese run opposition into the ground as coach before he settled for a third-place finish in 1966, said he and his three running partners this year were bothered by the cold, rain and strong winds, as well as a record-setting early pace.

Asked about 1968 Olympic hopes, McKenzie said the games are "too far off to think about right now."

Davide Runs 45 In 100-72 Win

Jim Davide pocketed a high run of 45 balls en route to a 100-72 victory over Jim Ferrendino. It was his 15th straight without a loss in the Buster Ferraro Billiard League. Ferrendino had a string of 28.

In other matches, Gabe Vozdik trimmed Roland Mauro, 100-53; and Al Biody won over Alex Bahl, 100-90.

Toronto Baseball Survives Crisis

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The financially pressed Toronto Maple Leafs will join the seven other International Baseball League teams in opening the season Wednesday, league president George Sisler says.

Sisler announced the opening day schedule Wednesday following a special meeting reportedly called to iron out Toronto's financial problems.

Robert Hunter, Maple Leaf president, was quoted as saying earlier that he needed $25,000. He reportedly said he wanted the league to lend him $15,000 and that the Boston Red Sox, Toronto's parent club, would advance him $10,000.

Referring to Toronto's financial problem, Sisler said he had "heard rumors and decided we needed to have a meeting to lay all the cards on the table."

"It turned out everything was fine," Sisler added.

Model Judiciary Article Goes to Con Con Parley

A Model Judiciary Article for New York State was presented to Constitutional Convention delegates by three leading civic organizations.

"Selection of judges and abolition of certain courts will be among the most controversial issues facing the delegates," declared Mrs. Kenneth Greenawalt, president of the League of Women Voters of New York State, speaking for the group which includes the Committee for Modern Courts and the Citizens Union.

"Since so many groups are proposing changes in the present judiciary article of the Constitution, it seemed desirable to present the delegates with a Model Article as a starting point," said Roger Hunting, chairman of the Committee for Modern Courts' Executive Committee.

Mrs. Greenawalt noted that new procedures for the selection and removal of judges were included in the article. "Partisan politics should be removed from the court system," she said, "and this Article provides one way of doing just that."

Three-Step Approach
The Article would establish a three-step merit selection appointment and voter retention system. Nominating Commissions, composed of an equal number of lawyers and laymen and a judge, would be established to propose three candidates for each vacancy in a court. Appointment would be made by the Governor, New York City's Mayor or a county official depending upon the court involved.

After a judge has served for three years on the bench, the voters in the district served by the court could be asked to vote "yes" or "no" on the question "Should Judge... of the... Court be continued in office?" If a majority voted "yes" the judge would continue in office for a 10-year term. If a majority voted "no" the office would be vacant and the nominating process would begin anew.

"This system would assure the selection of judges on the basis of ability," Mrs. Greenawalt noted. "Judicial candidates would not be proposed in order to 'balance the ticket' as they frequently seem to be in today's partisan elections. The voters would have the final say over this important branch of government through their right to confirm or reject appointed judges."

New Ouster Procedures
It was noted that another provision of the Model Article would provide new procedures for the removal, retirement and reprimand of judges through the establishment of a Commission on Judicial Qualifications. This Commission to consist of an equal number of lawyers and laymen and a judge, would receive complaints from any source and investigate them in confidence. Where circumstances warranted, the Commission would submit recommendations to the Court of Appeals which would then be authorized to hear the case.

The Model Article also provides for a court structure which would result in the elimination of the Surrogate's Court and the Court of Claims. The District Court would replace the hundreds of city, town and village courts that exist outside New York City. Other sections provide for a strong centralized administration of all courts and for State assumption of all court costs, without charge backs to local governments, through a State judicial budget.

The Model Article was drafted by the Institute of Judicial Administration, a non-profit organization that specializes in judicial matters. It has worked for many years with state officials and professional and civic organizations in revising or drafting new judiciary articles for New York State (in the 1950s), Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Kentucky and many other states. Allen Harris, Associate Director of the Institute, is primarily responsible for the new Model Article for New York State.

Film Festival To Present Work Of Award Winner

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Following a practice begun last year with Robert Wise, the Directors Guild of America is now running a retrospective festival of the films of the latest winner of its annual award, Fred Zinnemann.

Since the Guild's award has always coincided with the Oscar for best direction, the custom works out nicely. And seldom has a victory been more or less a director's director.

The selections for the festival demonstrate the versatility of the Vienna-born director.

First comes "The Search" (1948) which would have been important if only for introducing Montgomery Clift to the screen. But it was more than that — a poetic study of the displacement of war and perhaps the first important postwar film made by Americans in Europe.

Another vital introduction in 1950 — Marlon Brando in "The Men." In 1952, "High Noon," which raised the Western to its highest art and established Garv Cooper as a film immortal. "The Member of the Wedding" 1952, a financial flop but christened by some critics.

"From Here to Eternity" 1953, a modern classic which gave Zinnemann his first Oscar. "The Nun's Story" 1958, his sole venture into religion and a rare spiritual experience. "The Sundowners" 1960, in which Robert Mitchum proved that he can be a fine actor. "A Man for All Seasons" Zinnemann's dip into the costume picture while avoiding the deadliness of costume pictures.

Zinnemann has directed only 16 features, starting with "The Kid Glove Killer" in 1942 after he graduated from the MGM shorts department. Others included a good wartime film. "The Seventh Cross": the over-produced "Oklahoma!": a fine contemporary drama, "A Hatful of Rain"; and his 1963 mistake, "Behold a Pale Horse."

A wide variety of work. But all his films have a common ingredient: humanity. Very often this story concerns a man pursuing his own conscience against big odds — Pruitt in "Eternity" taking on the whole U.S. Army, Garv Cooper trying to marshal public opinion against invading outlaws. Sir Thomas Moore defying the marital whims of Henry VIII.

Named Head Of Crime Commission

REV. H. F. SCHADEWALD

The 25-man Ulster County Crime Commission, authorized at the March meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, held its second session at the Ulster County Office Building Wednesday night for the purpose of organization and adoption of rules of procedure.

The Rev. Harold F. Schadewald, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church, was named permanent chairman; former Town of Lloyd Supervisor John Gaffney was named vice-chairman, and Attorney Bernard Feeney Jr., secretary.

At the first meeting of the Commission following appointment of the Commission by Charles Relyea, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, County Judge Raymond J. Mino has been named temporary chairman and John J. Gaffney, temporary clerk.

Purposes for the Commission, as outlined in the resolution by Town of Plattkill Supervisor Joseph Martorana which created the Commission, is to study crime and the conditions which give rise to crime in Ulster County, and to make recommendations for the prevention and better control of crime and the administration of justice, and possibly for the modification of the Criminal Laws.

At the Wednesday night meeting District Attorney Joseph P. Torrance, Sheriff William B. Martin and Family County Judge Hugh R. Elwyn were the speakers.

Clay Says He'll Not Enter Army

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay said today he will not wear an Army uniform "under any circumstances."

Clay said that it would be a denunciation of his Muslim religion. "No, I am not going 10,000 miles from here to help murder and kill and burn another poor people simply to help continue the domination of white slave masters over the darker people the world over," he told a news conference.

The 25-year-old boxer is scheduled for induction April 28 in Houston, Tex.

Attend Spring TB Conference At N. Y. Hilton

Attending the 1967 Spring Conference on Tuberculosis and other Respiratory Diseases at New York City this week will be Saugerties banker John M. Robbins, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, E. Robert Johnson, Association's executive director, and Miss Almira A. Porter, R.N. and Miss Mabel L. Robinson, R.N., Association's Professional Program Volunteers.

The conferences are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday at the New York Hilton and constitute the annual professional and volunteer technical sessions established by the local TB Association's state affiliate.

Robbins and Johnson will participate in today's sessions geared to Air Pollution and to Tuberculosis and which include Dr. John E. Goldsmith of the California Department of Health, Austin N. Heller, Commissioner of the New York City Department of Air Pollution Control; and with Dr. Frank Field of WNBC-TV as moderator. The conference luncheon has as its guest speaker Mayor John V. Lindsay. The Ulster County TB and Health Association will soon announce its plans for a special Ulster County Air Pollution event in the near future.

Johnson and the Misses Porter and Robinson gave particular priority on Wednesday to special sessions on Tuberculin Testing which will be developed through the meaningful review and "demonstration" of successful Tuberculosis Testing Program. Johnson noted that these high calibre sessions relate directly to the Ulster County TB group's present work toward the cooperative development of Tuberculin Testing in Ulster County, and in particular as it relates to our schools. Speaker-instructors at these specialized sessions include Dr. Robert Yeager, president-elect of the American Thoracic Society and medical director of the Rockland County Sanatorium, and Dr. Lewis B. Clayton of the American Thoracic Society.

Resnick Scores Flag-Burners; Seeks Bill

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) said today that, "I could scarcely believe my eyes" when he saw pictures of the American flag being burned in Central Park in New York City.

"To me," the Congressman went on, "the action of these punks, bush-league anarchists, desecrating and burning my flag went far beyond any legitimate action or the right of free speech. They may have whatever political beliefs they choose, but burning the American flag, the symbol of freedom and liberty the world over, was an act that could not be left unchallenged."

Finding that there is no law against burning or defacing the flag except in Washington, D. C., Resnick has, "instructed my legislative counsel to draw up legislation that would make this offense a federal crime punishable by jail and fine."

The Ellenville Democrat hopes that, "this legislation will be available in the very near future and I will press with all my

Figures Prove MVB Busy Place

During March the Ulster County Motor Vehicle office issued 8,082 car registrations to bring the total for the year 1967 to 23,323. The total fees collected during the month from registrations was $239,680.28.

Since the first of the year, according to the monthly report of Deputy County Clerk Patrick T. Matara, who is in charge of the Motor Vehicle office, the total amount collected from motorists for registration plates is $685,772.71. During March the total fees which were forwarded to New York State amounted to $235,639.28 and the County of Ulster retained as its share of the monies $4,041. This sum represents a 50 cent fee for each item.

In addition during March there were 761 re-registrations which brought in a total of $3,254.39 on which the county clerk's office received a $1 fee.

Original license applications and chauffeur and operator renewals during March numbered 3,836 with a revenue of $8,837. On each renewal the county retains a 20 cent fee.

There were 638 Learner's permits issued in March with the total fees of $319. During March power for its early consideration and passage."

there were 343 voluntary surrenders of plates.

To demonstrate the amount of business which is transacted by the local Motor Vehicle office, during March there were 14,433 registration item transactions.

Since the first of the year the office has conducted 1,888 written tests, 818 of them during March. Ten persons changed the classification of their licenses and 743 learners eye tests were given. In addition to the learner's eye tests, there were 779 9-year eye tests given and there were 88 out of state tests given.

Since the change in the law which "staggered" the expiration of both operator's permits and car registrations, the annual end of year rush for registrations, operators permits and chauffeur licenses has been eliminated and the burden spread more evenly throughout the year.

Ellenville Man Pays High Price For Some Items

A 24-year-old Ellenville man paid a high price for cigars and razor blades, which he admitted stealing from Eckstein's Cigar Store on Center Street in that village early today.

Sergeant George Sheeley of the Ellenville Police Department said Kendall I. Jett, was picked up at 1:45 a. m., today after he was seen loitering in front of the cigar store. Troopers Francis Steiner and C. R. Larsen and Village Patrolmen Leonard Quick and Norman Green questioned Jett.

Police reported they found the man in possession of 18 packs of cigars and 19 packages of razor blades. Investigation by the officers disclosed a broken window on the parking lot side of Eckstein's store.

Jett was booked for petty larceny and at 4:30 a. m. police arraigned him before Village Judge Ronald Elias. Jett pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to one year, in the county jail.

According to Sergeant Sheeley, Jett set fire to the rear seat of a police car while being taken from Ellenville in handcuffs to start the sentence.

Sheeley said the FBI has been notified of the fire and investigation is under way. How the fire started was not immediately determined, the sergeant noted.
